HINT FORD MAY GO IT ALONE WITHOUT CODE

Auto Manufacturer Still Silent as Other Builders Go Under NRA.

REMAINS ON VACATION

Administration Leaders Adopt Watchful Waiting Attitude.

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Sept. 5—A vast silence today shrouded whatever plans the Ford Motor Co. may have for compliance or competition with the national automobile code which became officially a part of the national recovery program today.

There was a growing belief, with no apparent evidence to contradict it, that Henry Ford expects to "go it alone" without benefit of the NRA blue eagle.

Ford, dominant figure although no longer president of the only major company not a signatory to the automotive pact, continued his vacation in the north woods near Big Bay, Mich., miles distant from a telephone or a telegraph wire.

Edsel Ford Selected

Edsel Ford, president of the company and son of its founder, was ending his vacation in Seal Harbor, Me., where he has consistently refused to discuss matters of policy.

He is expected back tomorrow. The Elder Ford, according to reports from the vicinity of his Huron mountain retreat, may not return before Friday or Saturday.

The veritable epidemic of vacations that broke out among other Ford executives during the crisis of the Ford-NRA cleavage was abating but as they returned to their desks they said they could shed no light on the question "what will Ford do?"

Every apparent indication pointed to a determination on the part of Ford to "go the NRA one better" in wages and working hours for his employes, now numbering 42,000, and to stand adamant on his refusal to open his books to a code administration board or to accept the code provision for collective bargaining with workers.

MARION IS GRANTED $12,850 FOR RELIEF

Marion city was allocated $12,850 for September poor relief needs when the state relief commission Saturday approved grants of a portion of the $3,805,403 of federal relief funds, the Associated Press reported. Grants also were made to a number of Ohio cities and counties.

Marion's grant, city officials said, will be received in two portions, one due about Sept. 15 and the other about Oct. 1.

Rural NRA Drive To Be Feature of County Fair

Marion county residents living outside the Marion city limits will be asked to sign NRA consumers' pledges while visting the Marion county fair, Sept. 12, 13, 14 and 15, it was announced today by Mrs. Grover Snyder, consumers drive chairman for this county.

Establishment of an NRA booth on the fairgrounds was decided on today as a means of launching the drive in the rural sections, following completion of the consumers' campaign in Marion last week, Mrs. Snyder said.

It is hoped, she said, to get NRA pledges from a majority of Marion county housewives during the fair. She announced that Mrs. E. O. Thomas of near Prospect and Mrs. Alfred Donithen of Waldo will be in charge of the booth.

In the meantime, Mrs. J. C. Ackerman, city consumers campaign chairman, announced this morning that a final checkup among her 250 workers was being made today. Persons who were not at home when the workers called last week may sign cards and obtain NRA stickers at the Chamber of Commerce office, she announced.

Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies have signed NRA agreements, with modifications provided for the telegraph industry. Marion managers for both companies announced this morning. Western Union employs 15 persons in its various departments; Postal has four employes in Marion. The signed agreement one manager

BAILEY UNDER HEAVY GUARD

Taken to Oklahoma City After Making Escape from Jail in Texas.

RECAPTURED IN 4 HOURS

Dallas, Tex., Authorities To Probe Gun; Gives Up Without Struggle.

By The Associated Press

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 5 — Stone walls and steel bars were reinforced today by keen eyes and ready machine guns to keep the word of Joseph B. Keenan, director of the nation's anti-gangster campaign, that Harvey Bailey, alleged plotter of desperate crimes, would never again escape jail with his life.

The steel doors of the Oklahoma county jail clanged shut behind Bailey last night, scarcely a dozen hours after his startling escape from the county jail at Dallas, Tex., by means of a pistol which Bailey said he found in the mattress of his bunk.

The results of his daring break, the only successful one ever made there, was to hasten his removal to Oklahoma City to face charges of plotting the kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, oil millionaire for $200,000.

The trial is set for Sept. 18.

Gun Probe Started

Meanwhile Dallas authorities launched an investigation of how Bailey obtained the pistol with which he escaped his solitary cell. He surprised a jailer and trusty who was bringing his breakfast.

Recaptured at Ardmore, four hours after forcing his way from the Dallas jail and kidnaping Turnkey Nick Tresp, Bailey manacled hand and foot, was brought here by a five-car caravan of heavily armed officers

Apprehensive of an attempt to free Bailey at Ardmore, following a tip members of his gang were awaiting him east of there, federal officers speeded his removal to Oklahoma City, where four other alleged members of the Urschel kidnap ring, already were held.

The four are Albert Bates, named as one of the actual kidnapers and R. G. Shannon, his wife, and son, Armon, on whose Paradise, Tex., ranch Urschel was held for nine days until the ransom was paid and where Bailey later was captured as he lay asleep, a machine gun under his bed.

Sighted by Sheriff Sam Randolph at Marietta, Bailey was captured by Ardmore officers, after a chase in which his pursuers fired three shots, none of which took effect.

Shows No Resistance

Although he had a pistol under his left thigh, Bailey made no at-

FIERCE GALE RIPS THROUGH AREA IN TEXAS

Long Section of Gulf Coast Lashed by Terrific Tropical Hurricane.

WIND WRECKS BUILDINGS

Residents Flee Low Lying Areas To Escape Huge Incoming Waves.

By The Associated Press

HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 5 - Ripping into the lower Rio Grande valley a tropical hurricane of great intensity isolated Brownsville at the southern most point of Texas early today and lashed the gulf coast for hundreds of miles.

Vivid accounts of the terrific winds came from a telephone operator at Harlingen who sought frantically to give the outside world details until all her lines went out

"All the lines to Brownsville went out at once," she said, as the buildings in which she worked trembled before the blasts and wire "breaks" were so frequent much of her story had to be repeated.

"It's storming terribly here now and I don't know what has happened to them down at Brownsville." Brownsville is 30 miles southeast of Harlingen, at the mouth of the Rio Grande.

A Missouri Pacific railroad operator at Harlingen in a conversation with his Houston office, said the winds were "terrific."

80-Mile Wind

"The wind is blowing about 80 miles an hour now," he said. "Shingles and boards are flying through the air and the wind is blowing so hard I can't tell much about what is happening outside the station."

Reports from other surrounding towns, however, attested to severity of the storm. They told how two-story buildings were shaken to their foundtains, frame buildings crumbled and trees were uprooted

Brownsville boarded up yesterday as reports from the weather bureau indicated the hurricane would strike nearby. Business men took steps to protect their stocks, residents of summer shacks along the shore moved to safety in public buildings and everyone kept a weather eye for word of progress of the disturbance.

The first tangible effects of the storm appeared at Corpus Christi, some 150 miles up the coast line Early in the night strong winds drove several small ships ashore, battered two against a long pier wrecking it ,and created immense waves which sent water into back streets along the bay.

Water street, which parallels the bay, was covered. Then Chapparal was submerged in places and finally Mesquite street, three blocks from the water's edge, was approached.

Warned 16 hours in advance, some 3,000 residents of the lower

NO WORD RECEIVED FROM TWO BALLOONS

One American Entry Down 800 Miles from Starting Point.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 5—Interest was heightened today in the outcome of the James Gordon Bennett balloon race following the landing of the U. S navy's entry piloted by Lieut. Com. T. G. W. Settle, last year's winner, along the shore of Long Island sound approximately 800 miles from the starting point here.

Still unreported were the other American bag and the Polish entry. Late last night residents of Ottawa, Canada, reported seeing a balloon high over the city, but said it could not be identified as it drifted south.

Any attempt to pick a winner was still impossible today pending the landing of Ward T. Van Orman, the other American and Francizek Hynek, and Lieut. Zbigniew Burgzynski in the Polish bag

ERRORS FOUND IN NEW TAX LAW

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 5—Errors discovered by Attorney General John W. Bricker in the new cosmetics tax law passed at the present special legislative session may necessitate repassage.

The new cosmetics law intended to amend certain phases of a similar measure passed at the regular session—did not in fact do so, the attorney general pointed out, but sought to amend sections which no longer existed, they having been repealed by the first bill. Inasmuch as the new cosmetics tax law does not become effective until about Nov. 1, the present legislative session could correct the errors without disturbing collection of the tax.

10,000 See Two Killed as Plane Falls in Lake

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 5—High above Chippewa lake park an airplane slipped back and forth in a "failing leaf." Ten thousand spectators watched

They watched the plane and they watched Miss Viola Pincombe, floating down toward the lake, her parachute billowing out in a white circle.

Miss Pincombe had just gone over the side of the ship at a signal from its pilot Ralph C. Wensinger, 28, the man who for two years flew into the high altitudes every day for the United States weather bureau Samuel Versaci, 19, was in the plane with Wensinger.

And then just as a speedboat set out to pick up the girl, the 10,000 people—Wensinger's wife among them—saw the plane go into a spin, saw Versaci fall free of the ship, and saw the plane itself plunge into the lake. Wensinger and Versaci were killed. Wensinger was born at Sycamore.

CITY WORKERS FLOCK TO PARK FOR LABOR DAY

Three Speakers Review Aims and Progress of Union Organizations.

1,000 PERSONS ATTEND

William Green Speaks in Akron as Highlight in State Holiday.

Marion's principal Labor day program yesterday drew a crowd of approximately 1,000 persons to Lincoln park where a celebration sponsored by the Marion Central Labor union was held

The day's activities included speaking, games, contests and a picnic lunch. An old time dance, sponsored by Federal Labor union No. 18,338, was staged in the late afternoon and evening

In other parts of Marion, Labor day was observed as a holiday The ...ters presented special programs business in general was suspended and hundreds of residents took trips over the extended week-end.

See Brighter Future

Speakers at the Lincoln park program were as one in proclaiming 1933 as the beginning of a new era for labor. Declarations that President Roosevelt's leadership in the NRA program presents a paramount opportunity for organized labor to establish long-sought rights were made by Rev. J. R. Swain, a labor organizer and president of the Federal Labor union

Other speakers, C. A. Bolin, labor organizer and Democratic candidate for mayor, Ralph K. Ruppart, secretary of the Marion Central Labor union, and C. E. Wharton of Kenton, president of the Federated Farm clubs of Ohio, made appeals for support of President Roosevelt and urged that the laboring class recognize its prime opportunity.

"This is a new day for labor," Rev. Swain said. "For three years a tremendous war has been waged, not with guns but of an economic nature It has brought wreck and ruin to hundreds of thousandas of farmers, it has taken homes away from the common people and it has destroyed countless human lives

Urges Cooperation

The only way to win this war, Rev Swain continued, is to follow the President's policy of putting men and women to work and increase purchasing power to a point comparable to the amount of produced goods "The Blue Eagle of the NRA furnishes the united leadership we have long needed," the speaker declared, "and it has the whole people behind it."

Bolin reviewed the origin and growth of labor organizations in the nation and locally, explaining that the first local union, that of bricklayers, was established in 1892

EXTENSION GRANTED FOR TAX PAYMENTS

Treasurer Smallwood Announces Advancing of Deadline to Sept. 15.

An unexpected 10-day extension of the real estate tax collection period, scheduled to end tonight, was announced this morning by County Treasurer R. G. Smallwood

The new deadline was fixed at Sept. 15 by a special order of the tax commission this morning, Treasurer Smallwood said.

When the tax books are closed on the current June collection, penalties of 10 per cent will be added on unpaid taxes for both the June and last December collections, it was explained. The legislature waived penalties on last December taxes until the time for closing the June collection books, the treasurer said.

The current collection has yielded $373,421.62 to date.

Ohio Employment Gains 35 Per Cent Since March

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 5—Employment in Ohio has gained 35.5 per cent since March.

Definite indication of the upward trend of business was revealed by the Ohio State university bureau of business research in its monthly report.

In August, the report said, employment climbed 4.7 per cent, due chiefly to greater activity in manufacturing industries employing 60 per cent of all workers.

As compared with July, manufacturing employment increased 5.3 per cent in August. The gain in non-manufacturing work was .6 per cent. The latter figure was based on a 1.5 per cent gain in retail and wholesale trade and a .2 per cent increase in transportation and public utilities.

Service such as laundries, hotels, etc., declined 1.1 per cent, the report noted. Since March employment in retail and wholesale trade has gained 8 per cent, but other non-manufacturing employment, as well as construction, has shown little or no change, according to the bureau.

In the state's eight principal cities, August employment gained in six of them as follows: Canton 14 per cent; Toledo 8.1 per cent; Cleveland 7.3 per cent; Akron 7.2 per cent; Cincinnati 6.6 per cent, and Columbus 5.7 per cent.

Decreases noted were 1.1 per cent in Youngstown and 11 per cent in Dayton. As compared with the same month last year, however, employment was up in all eight cities.

Of the 796 concerns reporting to the bureau, 505 showed increases from July, 90 no change, and 200 decreases.

RURAL SCHOOL TERMS BEGIN

3,200 Students Return to Studies Following Summer Vacation.

ENROLLMENT UNCHANGED

Length of Sessions Not Determined, Depending on State Aid.

Approximately 3,200 students in the county schools were back in their classrooms today after a summer vacation.

Three county schools, Caledonia, Prospect and LaRue, opened today, while all the others held first sessions yesterday.

County school officials reported that as far as could be ascertained the enrollment this year shows no substantial change from that of last year. Definite reports will not be made from each school until the end of this month, officials said.

Term Uncertain

While the length of the term at each school still remains somewhat of a question, dependent on what situations arise regarding state aid for schools, officials said all the schools in the country are planning on nine months of operation.

Very little class work was on the schedule of any of the schools for the first day or two, Enrollment, distribution of book lists and assignment of first lessons made up the principal work

A number of changes have been made in the teaching personnel this year. Becoming acquainted with the new teachers and meeting again old school "chums" occupied the early hours of the first school days.

Personnel Complete

The county teaching personnel was completed today with the announcement that Miss Ruth Lauer of Prospect and Herman Watson of Bellevue, O., have been hired. Miss Lauer will teach the Campbell school in Marion township and Watson will serve as a county school music supervisor, with classes at the Green Camp, Claridon and Morral schools

Miss Lauer and Mr. Watson were graduated last spring from Capital university in Columbus.

TALK OF INTERVENTION

United States Ready To Protect Lives, Property of Foreign Residents.

By The Associated Press

The United States ordered a cruiser and three destroyers to Cuba today to protect American property against possible disturbances in connection with the new revolutionary movement which has embroiled the island.

The resignation of the government headed by President Carlos Manuel De Cespedes, in power less than a month, was expected momentarily

Power was seized through a bloodless coup d'etat by racial elements A commission of five was selected to take over the government from the administration which succeeded deposed President Gerardo Machado, Aug 12.

The movement spread from Havana to Santiago, where the army rebelled, ousting the governor and the mayor.

HAVANA, Sept. 5—Cuba's revolutionary government, less than one month old, prepared to resign today in favor of a commission of five men selected by leaders of soldiers, sailors and national police who seized power through a bloodless coup d'etat last night.

Provisional President Carlos Manuel De Cespedes, who succeeded the deposed Gerardo Machado, Aug. 12, was hurriedly summoned back to Havana from Santa Clara, where he had gone to look over the damage caused by last week's hurricane.

On his return to the capital the president was expected to call a cabinet meeting at which his government would resign.

Talk of Intervention

There was much talk of possible intervention by the United States under the Platt amendment, which is part of the Cuban constitution. It legalizes such intervention.

The coup d'etat placed power in the hands of the extreme radical socialists, representing student groups, the ARC revolutionary society which was largely instrumental in the overthrow of Machado, and certain university professors. It was led by Sergeant Fulgencio Batista.

Although the shift in power was accomplished without fighting, there were numerous disorders. ABC headquarters in Prado avenue were in an uproar. Automobiles loaded with young men, armed with pistols and rifles, dashed about the streets. Fears were expressed that there would be bloodshed before nightfall.

Members of the new regime's commission asserted that they did not want to hold their positions permanently but would govern only with a constitutional assembly selected their successors.

The commissioners are Those Marzarri, Segio Calho, Guillermo Portela, Ramon Grau San Martin and Portforio Franca. Franca had not accepted this morning. Carlos De La Torre was named as his alternate.

The commission went to the palace to notify Dr. De Cespedes that it was taking over the administration.

Mutiny Sudden

The mutiny was sudden and dramatic, although discontent of the lower ranks in the army, navy, and

Four U. S. Warships on Way to Havana

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 — Warships were ordered to Cuba today because of the coup detat there.

A cruiser and three destroyers were dispatched to protect American lives and property from danger in threatened strife precipitated by the revolt of the army against the new provisional government.

This was the second time in a matter of weeks that war vessels have been sent to the republic to the south, the first time being during the disturbances in connection with the overthrow of the Machado government.

Today's step was taken promptly after Secretary Hull had been appraised of the swiftly developing situation in two long telephone calls from Ambassador Sumner Welles at Havana.

The secretary gravely facing reporters, told them the cruiser Richmond had been ordered from the Canal Zone to Havana, that the destroyers MacFarland and Hambridge had been ordered to the Cuban capital from Key West and Norfolk, and that the destroyer Sturtevant had been ordered from

HINT FORD MAY GO IT ALONE WITHOUT CODE

Auto Manufacturer Still Silent as Other Builders Go Under NRA.

REMAINS ON VACATION

Administration Leaders Adopt Watchful Waiting Attitude.

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Sept. 5—A vast silence today shrouded whatever plans the Ford Motor Co. may have for com- pliance or competition with the national automobile code which be- came officially a part of the na- tional recovery program today.

There was a growing belief, with no apparent evidence to contradict it, that Henry Ford expects to "go it alone" without benefit of the NRA blue eagle.

Ford, dominant figure although no longer president of the only major company not a signatory to the automotive pact, continued his vacation in the north woods near Big Bay, Mich., miles distant from a telephone or a telegraph wire.

Edsel Ford Selected

Edsel Ford, president of the com- pany and son of its founder, was ending his vacation in Seal Harbor, Me., where he has consistently re- fused to discuss matters of policy.

He is expected back tomorrow. The Elder Ford, according to re- ports from the vicinity of his Huron mountain retreat, may not return before Friday or Saturday.

The veritable epidemic of vaca- tions that broke out among other Ford executives during the crisis of the Ford-NRA cleavage, was abating but as they returned to their desks they said they could shed no light on the question "what will Ford do?"

Every apparent indication point- ed to a determination on the part of Ford to "go the NRA one bet- ter" in wages and working hours for his employes, now numbering 42,000, and to stand adamant on his refusal to open his books to a code administration board or to accept the code provision for collective bargaining with workers.

BAILEY UNDER HEAVY GUARD

Taken to Oklahoma City After Making Escape from Jail in Texas.

RECAPTURED IN 4 HOURS

Dallas, Tex., Authorities To Probe Gun; Gives Up Without Struggle.

By The Associated Press

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 5 — Stone walls and steel bars were reinforced today by keen eyes and ready machine guns to keep the word of Joseph B. Keenan, direc- tor of the nation's anti-gangster campaign, that Harvey Bailey, al- leged plotter of desperate crimes, would never again escape jail with his life.

The steel doors of the Oklahoma county jail clanged shut behind Bailey last night, scarcely a dozen hours after his startling escape from the county jail at Dallas, Tex., by means of a pistol which Bailey said he found in the mat- ress of his bunk.

The results of his daring break, the only successful one ever made there, was to hasten his removal to Oklahoma City to face charges of plotting the kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, oil millionaire for $200,000.

The trial is set for Sept. 18.

Gun Probe Started

Meanwhile Dallas authorities launched an investigation of how Bailey obtained the pistol with which he escaped his solitary cell. He surprised a jailer and trusty who was bringing his breakfast.

Recaptured at Ardmore, four hours after forcing his way from the Dallas jail and kidnaping Turn- key Nick Tresp, Bailey manacled hand and foot, was brought here by a five-car caravan of heavily armed officers.

Apprehensive of an attempt to free Bailey at Ardmore, following a tip members of his gang were awaiting him east of there, federal officers speeded his removal to Ok- lahoma City, where four other al- leged members of the Urschel kid- nap ring, already were held.

The four are Albert Bates, named as one of the actual kidnapers and R. G. Shannon, his wife, and son, Armon, on whose Paradise, Tex., ranch Urschel was held for nine days until the ransom was paid and where Bailey later was captured as he lay asleep, a machine gun un- der his bed.

Sighted by Sheriff Sam Randolph at Marietta, Bailey was captured by Ardmore officers, after a chase in which his pursuers fired three shots, none of which took effect.

Shows No Resistance

WIND WRECKS BUILDINGS

Residents Flee Low Lying Areas To Escape Huge Incoming Waves.

By The Associated Press

HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 5— Rip- ping into the lower Rio Grande val- ley a tropical hurricane of great intensity isolated Brownsville at the southern most point of Texas early today and lashed the gulf coast for hundreds of miles.

Vivid accounts of the terrific winds came from a telephone oper- ator at Harlingen who sought fran- tically to give the outside world de- tails until all her lines went out

"All the lines to Brownsville went out at once," she said, as the buildings in which she worked trembled before the blasts and wire "breaks" were so frequent much of her story had to be repeated.

"It's storming terribly here now and I don't know what has hap- pened to them down at Browns- ville." Brownsville is 30 miles southeast of Harlingen, at the mouth of the Rio Grande.

A Missouri Pacific railroad oper- ator at Harlingen, in a conversa- tion with his Houston office, said the winds were "terrific."

80-Mile Wind

"The wind is blowing about 80 miles an hour now," he said. "Shingles and boards are flying through the air and the wind is blowing so hard I can't tell much about what is happening outside the station."

Reports from other surrounding towns, however, attested to severity of the storm. They told how two- story buildings were shaken to their foundtains, frame buildings crumbled and trees were uprooted.

Brownsville boarded up yester- day as reports from the weather bureau indicated the hurricane would strike nearby. Business men took steps to protect their stocks, residents of summer shacks along the shore moved to safety in public buildings and everyone kept a weather eye for word of progress of the disturbance.

The first tangible effects of the storm appeared at Corpus Christi, some 150 miles up the coast line Early in the night strong winds drove several small ships ashore battered two against a long pier wrecking it ,and created immense waves which sent water into back streets along the bay.

Water street, which parallels the bay, was covered. Then Chapparal was submerged in places and fi- nally Mesquite street, three blocks from the water's edge, was ap- proached.

Warned 16 hours in advance, some 3,000 residents of the lower

NO WORD RECEIVED FROM TWO BALLOONS

One American Entry Down 800 Miles from Starting Point.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 5—Interest was heightened today in the outcome of the James Gordon Bennett balloon race following the landing of the U. S. navy's entry piloted by Lieut. Com. T. G. W. Settle, last year's winner, along the shore of Long Island sound approximately 800 miles from the starting point here.

Still unreported were the other American bag and the Polish entry. Late last night residents of Ottawa, Canada, reported seeing a balloon high over the city, but said it could not be identified as it drifted south.

Any attempt to pick a winner was still impossible today pending the landing of Ward T. Van Orman, the other American and Francizek Hynek, and Lieut. Zbigniew Burg- zynski in the Polish bag.

ERRORS FOUND IN NEW TAX LAW

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 5—Errors discovered by Attorney General John W. Bricker in the new cos- metics tax law passed at the pres- ent special legislative session may necessitate repassage.

The new cosmetics law intended to amend certain phases of a simi- lar measure passed at the regular session—did not in fact do so, the attorney general pointed out, but sought to amend sections which no longer existed, they having been re- pealed by the first bill. Inasmuch as the new cosmetics tax law does not become effective until about Nov. 1, the present legislative ses- sion could correct the errors with- out disturbing collection of the tax.

1 Killed, 14 Injured in Car Crashes

Numerous Week-End and Holiday Accidents in Marion Area.

A Galion resident was killed and at least 14 persons were injured in 10 accidents in the vicinity of Mar- ion during the week-end and holi- day, a checkup today showed.

John L. Volk, the Galilon acci- dent victim, was among 29 Ohio- ans who lost their lives in accidents during the double holiday, Associ- ated Press reports stated. Traffic accidents, drownings and a plane crash contributed to the total.

Howard Lewis, 44, of 152 McWil- liams court, suffered a broken leg when a light truck in which he and two companions were riding left the road near Meeker Sunday morning.

10,000 See Two Killed as Plane Falls in Lake

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 5—High above Chippewa lake park an air- plane slipped back and forth in a "failing leaf." Ten thousand spec- tators watched.

They watched the plane and they watched Miss Viola Pincombe, floating down toward the lake, her parachute billowing out in a white circle.

Miss Pincombe had just gone over the side of the ship at a signal from its pilot, Ralph C. Wensinger, 28, the man who for two years flew into the high altitudes every day for the United States weather bureau. Samuel Versaci, 19, was in the plane with Wensinger.

And then, just as a speedboat set out to pick up the girl, the 10,000 people—Wensinger's wife among them—saw the plane go into a spin, saw Versaci fall free of the ship, and saw the plane itself plunge into the lake. Wensinger and Versaci were killed. Wen- singer was born at Sycamore.

CITY WORKERS FLOCK TO PARK FOR LABOR DAY

Three Speakers Review Aims and Progress of Union Organizations.

1,000 PERSONS ATTEND

William Green Speaks in Akron as Highlight in State Holiday.

Marion's principal Labor day program yesterday drew a crowd of approximately 1,000 persons to Lincoln park where a celebration sponsored by the Marion Central Labor union was held.

The day's activities included speaking, games, contests and a picnic lunch. An old time dance, sponsored by Federal Labor union No. 18,338, was staged in the late afternoon and evening.

In other parts of Marion, Labor day was observed as a holiday. The- aters presented special programs, business in general was suspended and hundreds of residents took trips over the extended week-end.

See Brighter Future

Speakers at the Lincoln park pro- gram were as one in proclaiming 1933 as the beginning of a new era for labor. Declarations that Presi- dent Roosevelt's leadership in the NRA program presents a para- mount opportunity for organized labor to establish long-sought rights were made by Rev. J. B. Swain, a labor organizer and president of the Federal Labor union.

Other speakers, C. A. Bolin, labor organizer and Democratic candi- date for mayor, Ralph K. Ruppart, secretary of the Marion Central Labor union, and C. E. Wharton of Kenton, president of the Federated Farm clubs of Ohio, made appeals for support of President Roosevelt and urged that the laboring class recognize its prime opportunity.

"This is a new day for labor," Rev. Swain said. "For three years a tremendous war has been waged, not with guns but of an economic nature. It has brought wreck and ruin to hundreds of thousandas of farmers, it has taken homes away from the common people and it has destroyed countless human lives.

Urges Cooperation

The only way to win this war, Rev. Swain continued is to follow the President's policy of putting men and women to work and in- crease purchasing power to a point comparable to the amount of pro- duced goods. "The Blue Eagle of the NRA furnishes the united leadership we have long needed," the speaker declared, "and it has the whole people behind it."

Bolin reviewed the origin and growth of labor organizations in the nation and locally, explaining that the first local union, that of bricklayers, was established in 1892.

EXTENSION GRANTED FOR TAX PAYMENTS

Treasurer Smallwood An- nounces Advancing of Deadline to Sept. 15.

An unexpected 10-day extension of the real estate tax collection period, scheduled to end tonight, was announced this morning by County Treasurer R. G. Smallwood.

The new deadline was fixed at Sept. 15 by a special order of the tax commission this morning, Treasurer Smallwood said.

When the tax books are closed on the current June collection, penal- ties of 10 per cent will be added on unpaid taxes for both the June and last December collections, it was explained. The legislature waived penalties on last December taxes until the time for closing the June collection books, the treasurer said.

The current collection has yield- ed $373,421.62 to date.

RURAL SCHOOL TERMS BEGIN

3,200 Students Return to Studies Following Sum- mer Vacation.

ENROLLMENT UNCHANGED

Length of Sessions Not De- termined, Depending on State Aid.

Approximately 3,200 students in the county schools were back in their classrooms today after a sum- mer vacation.

Three county schools, Caledonia, Prospect and LaRue, opened today, while all the others held first ses- sions yesterday.

County school officials reported that as far as could be ascertained the enrollment this year shows no substantial change from that of last year. Definite reports will not be made from each school until the end of this month, officials said.

Term Uncertain

While the length of the term at each school still remains somewhat of a question, dependent on what situations arise regarding state aid for schools, officials said all the schools in the country are planning on nine months of operation.

Very little class work was on the schedule of any of the schools for the first day or two. Enroll- ment, distribution of book lists and assignment of first lessons made up the principal work.

A number of changes have been made in the teaching personnel this year. Becoming acquainted with the new teachers and meeting again old school "chums" occupied the early hours of the first school days.

Personnel Complete

The county teaching personnel was completed today with the an- nouncement that Miss Ruth Lauer of Prospect and Herman Watson of Bellevue, O., have been hired. Miss Lauer will teach the Campbell school in Marion township and Watson will serve as a county school music supervisor, with classes at the Green Camp, Clari- don and Morral schools.

Miss Lauer and Mr. Watson were graduated last spring from Capital university in Columbus.

United States Ready To Pro- tect Lives, Property of Foreign Residents.

By The Associated Press

The United States ordered a crui- ser and three destroyers to Cuba to- day to protect American property against possible disturbances in connection with the new revolu- tionary movement which has em- broiled the island.

The resignation of the govern- ment headed by President Carlos Manuel De Cespedes, in power less than a month, was expected momentarily.

Power was seized through a bloodless coup d'etat by racial el- ements. A commission of five was selected to take over the govern- ment from the administration which succeeded deposed President Gerardo Machado, Aug. 12.

The movement spread from Ha- vana to Santiago, where the army rebelled, ousting the governor and the mayor.

HAVANA, Sept. 5—Cuba's revolu- tionary government, less than one month old, prepared to resign to- day in favor of a commission of five men selected by leaders of sol- diers, sailors and national police who seized power through a blood- less coup d'etat last night.

Provisional President Carlos Manuel De Cespedes, who succeeded the deposed Gerardo Machado, Aug. 12, was hurriedly summoned back to Havana from Santa Clara, where he had gone to look over the dam- age caused by last week's hurri- cane.

On his return to the capital the president was expected to call a cabinet meeting at which his gov- ernment would resign.

Talk of Intervention

There was much talk of possible intervention by the United States under the Platt amendment, which is part of the Cuban constitution. It legalizes such intervention.

The coup d'etat placed power in the hands of the extreme radical socialists, representing student groups, the ARC revolutionary so- ciety which was largely instrumen- tal in the overthrow of Machado, and certain university professors. It was led by Sergeant Fulgencio Batista.

Although the shift in power was accomplished without fighting, there were numerous disorders. ABC headquarters in Prado avenue were in an uproar. Automobiles loaded with young men, armed with pistols and rifles, dashed about the streets. Fears were ex- pressed that there would be blood- shed before nightfall.

Members of the new regime's commission asserted that they did not want to hold their positions permanently but would govern only with a constitutional assembly se- lected their successors.

The commissioners are Those Marzarri, Segio Calbo, Guillermo Portela, Ramon Grau San Martin and Portforio Franca. Franca had not accepted this morning. Carlos De La Torre was named as his al- ternate.

The commission went to the pal- ace to notify Dr. De Cespedes that it was taking over the administra- tion.

Four U. S. Warships on Way to Havana

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 — War- ships were ordered to Cuba today because of the coup detat there.

A cruiser and three destroyers were dispatched to protect Ameri- can lives and property from danger in threatened strife precipitated by the revolt of the army against the new provisional government.

This was the second time in a matter of weeks that war vessels have been sent to the republic to the south, the first time being dur- ing the disturbances in connection with the overthrow of the Machado government.

Today's step was taken promptly after Secretary Hull had been ap- praised of the swiftly developing situation in two long telephone calls from Ambassador Sumner Welles at Havana.

The secretary gravely facing re- porters, told them the cruiser Rich- mond had been ordered from the Canal Zone to Havana, that the destroyers MacFarland and Bain- bridge had been ordered to the Cuban capital from Key West and Norfolk, and that the destroyer Sturtevant had been ordered from Marion county residents living outside the Marion city limits will be asked to sign NRA consumers' pledges while visting the Marion county fair, Sept. 12, 13, 14 and 15, it was announced today by Mrs. Grover Snyder, consumers drive chairman for this county.

Establishment of an NRA booth on the fairgrounds was decided on today as a means of launching the drive in the rural sections, follow- ing completion of the consumers' campaign in Marion last week, Mrs. Snyder said.

It is hoped, she said, to get NRA pledges from a majority of Marion county housewives during the fair. She announced that Mrs. E. O. Thomas of near Prospect and Mrs. Alfred Donithen of Waldo will be in charge of the booth.

In the meantime, Mrs. J. C. Ackerman, city consumers cam- paign chairman, announced this morning that a final checkup among her 250 workers was being made today. Ohio Employment Gains 35 Per Cent Since March

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 5—Em- ployment in Ohio has gained 35.5 per cent since March.

Definite indication of the upward trend of business was revealed by the Ohio State university bureau of business research in its monthly report.

In August, the report said, em- ployment climbed 4.7 per cent, due chiefly to greater activity in manu- facturing industries employing 6% per cent of all workers.

As compared with July, manu- facturing employment increased 5.3 per cent in August. The gain in non-manufacturing work was .6 per cent. The latter figure was based on a 1.5 per cent gain in re- tail and wholesale trade and a .2 per cent increase in transportation and public utilities.

Service such as laundries, hotels, etc., declined 1.1 per cent, the re- port noted. Since March employ- ment in retail and wholesale trade has gained 8 per cent, but other non-manufacturing employment, as well as construction, has shown little or no change, according to the bureau.

In the state's eight principal cities, August employment gained in six of them as follows: Canton 14 per cent; Toledo 8.1 per cent; Cleveland 7.3 per cent; Akron 7.2 per cent; Cincinnati 6.6 per cent, and Columbus 5.7 per cent.

Decreases noted were 1.1 per cent in Youngstown and 11 per cent in Dayton. As compared with the same month last year, however, em- ployment was up in all eight cities.

Of the 798 concerns reporting to the bureau, 505 showed increases from July, 90 no change, and 200 decreases.

Three Groups To Govern County Wheat Control

Organization Plans Outlined by Gilbert; Meetings To Be Held.

Duties and organization of the three types of committees which will govern Marion county's participation in the government's wheat reduction program were outlined today by R. H. Gilbert, emergency agricultural assistant for the county.

The three types are the county board of directors which will govern the county wheat production control association, the county allotment committee, and nine community committees. These groups will be named in a series of community meetings the next two weeks.

Nine on Board

The first the board of directors will consist of nine men, one elected from each community in the county who will elect their own board officers. This board will select the method of determining allotments to individual farmers, administer expenditures, determine the necessary budget to cover salaries of county association, appoint and designate places and duties of committeemen.

The county allotment committee will be composed of three men, selected from the board of directors with the chairman of the board serving as chairman of the committee. Duties of this committee will be to receive applications from the community committees, check and compute contracts for growers to sign, hear appeals and complaints, make all necessary corrections to contracts, certify to the secretary of agriculture, distribute checks to growers when received from Washington and adopt a plan for inspecting and verifying acreage reduction.

Local Committees

In each community consisting of one or two townships there will be a local committee of three members, one of whom will serve on the county board. These three members will be elected by farmers in that community applying for contracts.

This community committee will check all applications for contracts, assist growers in completing applications for allotments and contracts, obtain data on acreage and production of non-cooperating producers, and report to the allotment committee on all its activities.

The Day After

(Will Rogers Special)

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Sept. 5.—Every holiday ought to be named "Labor Day" if we could ever get vacations down to where you wasn't any more tired on the day one was over than on our regular work day. It would be wonderful.

The President caught Vincent Astor fishing watching him close and streaked off his yacht and went in a skiff. From what I can hear about yachting, the tough part is getting somebody to ride with you. One rough day and you lose half your crew and all your guests.

By the way a good stiff sales tax on "hamburgers" today would have paid our national debt since an American a one-piece bathing suit, a hamburger and five gallons of gas and they are just as tickled as a movie star with a new divorce.

Yours,

Will Rogers

OHIO ECONOMIST VOICES WARNING

Former Moley Teacher Says NRA Not Permanent Remedy.

By International News Service

OBERLIN, O., Sept. 5 — A warning that NRA administrators must find a solution to deeper and more fundamental issues has been sounded by Prof. Karl F. Geiser, chief political economist at Oberlin college and former teacher of Prof. Raymond Moley, ex-"brain truster."

"The recovery acts are only temporary," Prof. Geiser points out. "But what of the future? As yet, I see no evidence of a movement to find permanent solutions for depressions."

The NRA, launched as a weapon against an emergency, is seen by Prof. Geiser as necessarily temporary because it is not adaptable to the normal American temperament.

"If social planning on a national scale," the professor says, "it brings up the general philosophy of whether in a state like America, where we have always emphasized free initiative and competition and believed in the merit system theoretically, all that can be dispensed with and a control from without substituted.

"Until America can be assured of a more efficient and permanent civil service than we have hitherto been capable of obtaining, I am naturally skeptical of an extensive public control."

Prof. Moley took his master's degree under Prof. Geiser.

GRANGE OBSERVES "HOBBY" PROGRAM

A "hobby" program which included a display of hobbies of members of the juvenile grange and a talk on "Hobbies" by Earl N. Hale of the Y. M. C. A., was given at a meeting of Bowling Green grange Friday night at the hall. Among the collections displayed were buttons, shells, rocks and minerals, scrap books, stamps, butterflies, feathers, leaves, prints and photographs of screen stars.

Three applications for membership were voted on. Music was furnished by Miss Cecilia Snyder and Edward Burbaugh. J. W. Freshour, master, announced a grange inspection at the October meeting. The committee on the Marion County fair display made final arrangements. Refreshments were served by a committee.

Old Copy of Star Prized Possession of Marion Man

A copy of the Marion Daily Star of more than 50 years ago is the prized property of Earl Eack of 465 Patterson street. The issue bears the date of Thursday evening, September 22, 1881, and news of national importance is the detailed and somewhat grewsome account of the condition of the body of the late President Garfield, which lay in state at Long Branch. Local news centered about the twenty-sixth annual session of the Central Ohio conference of the Methodist church.

A matter of civic pride was the telegram received by Sam Oppenheimer from John Diebold that "Dot Little Dutch Band" had taken the prize at Findlay. From what could be learned from traveling men Marion was decorated and draped as well as any city in Ohio on Tuesday, in tribute to the late President Garfield.

Among the firms doing business in the city were S. Oppenheimer and Brother, Fahey & Son's, Tristram's, J. G. Leffler, Clark Turney, M. Stoll, J. Hood & Son, Market & Gracely's and James D. Gregory. Round trip tickets to Cincinnati for the exposition could be purchased over the C. & T. for six dollars. This included admission to the exposition. A trip to St. Louis to "witness the grand display and march of the procession of the Veiled Prophet and the best state fair in the union" could be had for four dollars round trip, and an excursion to Niagara Falls over the N. Y. P. & O. advertised rated at four dollars round trip and good for three days.

The paper contained four pages of five columns. W. P. Hume and brother were publishers and S. Hume was the editor. The plant was located at the corner of Main and Railroad streets. The price of the paper was three cents.

SUBURBAN GROUP SUES FOR $120,000

By International News Service

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 5 — Twelve residents of East Cleveland, a suburb, have decided to get their flood relief in court.

Contending that the New York, Chicago & St. Louis railroad's right-of-way blocked a natural watercourse and that the city of East Cleveland did nothing to prevent rain water from rising six to eight feet about their homes, they asked $120,000 in damages from the railroad and the city.

BITES AT EDISON

EDISON, Sept. 5 —The body of Mrs. Mary Kreis Mozier, former Cardington resident who died Monday at the home of her son, Carl, of New Brighton, Pa., will arrive here today and be taken to the Curl funeral home for funeral services Wednesday at 10 a. m. Burial will be made in the Glendale cemetery. Mrs. Mozier was a sister-in-law of John Mozier of here, and was the widow of the late F. E. Mozier of Cardington.

CIRCUS AERIALIST PERFORMS WITHOUT NET

MISS CESE O'DELL

Heading the groups of girl aerialists with the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus, coming to Marion on Thursday, Sept. 7 is Miss Cese O'Dell, one of the most daring in all spangleland.

Twice daily, does the dainty little star take her life in her hands as she performs in the dizzy heights of the big top without a net beneath. She is of the old circus aristocracy, the fourth generation of flyers, and, although only 24 years of age, she sets a hot pace for the scores of older aerialists to follow. Her exploits in mid-air are daring, and the vast audiences acclaim her daily as one of the greatest aerial gymnasts of all time.

The Flying Hills, the Clarkonians, the Rowland Sisters, the LeBlanie Trio, and the great Arnold troupe, are other sensational aerial displays to be seen during the 1933 performances scheduled to begin at 2 and 8 p. m.

Sunday shows are banned by state law in Florida, although several cities have "legalized" them.

A "BULLY" STORY

Cleveland Judge Tells Real Thriller After Vacation Trip.

By International News Service

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 5—Appellate Judge Neal W. McGill was back from his vacation in Canadian wilds with the best "bull" story of the season.

According to the jurist he was staying at a cottage at Trent River, Ont., one night when there was a disturbance outside. Investigation revealed it was a mad bull.

The enraged animal tipped over several young trees, upset small cabins and charged through a tent in which a man and his wife and baby were sleeping. The woman fainted.

The bull then charged Mrs. Walter Detrich, of Chardon, O., and she barely managed to escape. But that made Detrich mad. He ran to his sedan parked nearby and started the motor.

He charged the bull and the animal turned to attack. They collided head on. That was enough for the bull, according to Judge McGill and when last seen was headed toward Toronto, 130 miles away. The only damage to the car was a dented fender. Judge McGill also reported catching some fish.

Get the Facts! Our Engineers Will Furnish Reliable Information On Your Heating Problems—Without Charge

Lower Cleaning Costs By Heating With Gas

Incidental Costs Usually Make "Cheap" Fuels Most Expensive

One item of heating expense that too many overlook is the cost of continually cleaning smoke, soot, ashes and furnace dirt — caused by the use of "cheap" fuels — from draperies, upholstery, rugs, woodwork and clothing.

Frequent redecorating, constant furnace tending, removal of ashes and medical expense for treatment of colds and other ills resulting from up-and-down temperatures are charges which also should be added to the heating bill, if they result from the use of ordinary fuels.

Gas Heat Is Economical

You can eliminate these mounting incidental expenses by heating your home with gas — the clean fuel that burns without attention and maintains the temperature which you select. And these savings, added to the price you pay for ordinary fuels, will more than pay the small difference in fuel cost for the greater convenience of gas heat.

Our heating engineers daily visit many homes, checking present heating plants and making recommendations for changing them into gas-fired units, automatically controlled. This can be done for a surprisingly small investment, divided into easy payments. When you know ALL the facts, you will want to —

Janitrol — the complete gas-fired heating unit — fits into your present furnace to provide the temperature you select on the automatic thermostat control. Let us give you complete details on heating your home with gas — the finest fuel.

But Plymouth is built of steel, reinforced with steel. Fred Noble came out with only one slight scratch!

For your own sake—for your family's sake—travel safely in a modern car. Let the nearest Plymouth dealer show you what safety-steel construction is. You'll never rely on any other kind!

Rev. Wood Reads Ceremony for Hastings-Gorman Wedding

REV. LAWRENCE A. WOOD pastor of Trinity Baptist church read the single ring service for the marriage of Miss Mabel Hastings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hastings of LaRue, and Paul H. Gorman, son of Mrs. D. E. Gorman of 352 Girard avenue, Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, at the church.

Open church was observed for the ceremony which followed the morning worship. Tall wicker vases filled with white asters banked with palms were the only decorations.

Mrs. W. R. Roberts presided at the organ and as the guests were being seated played "... Love Song" by Nevin. For the processional she played the "Wedding March" from Wagner's "Lohengrin" and during the service "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life," Victor Herbert. As the couple left the church Mrs. Roberts played Mendelssohn's "Wedding March."

The bride and bridegroom were unattended. The bride wore a wedding gown of bridal satin in a ... shade, made floor length and designed on bias lines. The V shaped neckline was finished with a fichu, trimmed with the material and caught in graceful lines with a three-loop bow. Self covered acorn buttons fastened the gown at the back. Her matching close-fitting turban was of ... tinted satin and her flowers were an arm bouquet of ... and lilies of the valley.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Gorman left on a wedding trip through the east and on their return will be at home at 352 Girard avenue. For traveling Mrs. Gorman wore a swagger suit of black triple sheer and white pebble crepe with accessories to harmonize.

Mrs. Gorman is a graduate of the LaRue High school and of the Mt. Carmel Training School for Nurses, Columbus. For the last five and one half years she has been employed as city health nurse in Marion.

Mr. Gorman is a graduate of ... High school and is employed as a car distributor with the Erie Railroad Co.

Homemaker's Question Box

Question—How can the dessert for the school lunch be made both satisfactory and satisfying?

Answer—A sweet dessert is as a rule most satisfying. The custards or puddings which include both milk and eggs are very nutritious. Plain caramel custard, rice pudding, tapioca pudding, gelatin pudding, chocolate pudding, etc., may be carried in a custard cup or small baking dish.

A small glass jar of canned fruit or apple sauce with a cookie makes a good dessert.

Either fresh fruit or dried fruit such as dates, figs, and raisins may be used.

There is no objection to plain cookies, ginger cookies, date or raisin cookies, sponge cake, gingerbread, or sweet chocolate—provided they are eaten last and not at the beginning of the meal. It may help to wrap the dessert and keep it for a surprise to top off the meal.

The HIDDEN DOOR

BY FRANK L. PACKARD

[illegible]

pillage—at thought of which his soul retched. And tonight he was sailing under the Mask's colors, one of Buck O'Mara's mob, one of those that Reddy had termed the "little murder organization" that the Mask always kept on tap.

THEY, Buck O'Mara, Benny Malone, and himself, had picked up a waiting car a block away from the Wine Press, and had driven to somewhere on Long Island—just where, he did not know. There a small army of men had embarked, and these three fast motor cruisers had put to set.

That had been considerably less than an hour ago, but in that time, both through the talk that had gone on around him, and because Buck O'Mara, once well started on his way, had been more communicative, he had acquired a very sure and certain knowledge of what was afoot.

He did not like it—and with every minute that passed, bringing the end that much nearer, he liked it less.

This wheelhouse against which he leaned was steel, bullet-proof out of compliment to the marksmanship of any revenue boat that might at any time be inquisitive enough and inconsiderate enough to stage a pursuit. A rum-running craft—like those others to port and starboard.

Ahead, somewhere beyond the 12-mile limit, lay Dollaire's schooner, the Alouette. The aim was to repay Dollaire in his own coin, only in this case neither Dollaire nor any one of his men would escape. A massacre—and the men down there in the cabin, fingering sub-machine guns, had licked their lips and blasphemed in glee at the thought of it!

There had been no thought of putting Dollaire on the spot at Spinelli's last night. That would have been, it now seemed, neither subtle enough nor, in retribution, adequate enough to quench the Mask's thirst for revenge.

Benny Malone and Harry the Lynx had been detained there, not to watch Dollaire, but as bodyguards for Heimie Schwarm—and Heimie Schwarm had been there to bait the trap that would write a gory finis to the careers of Dollaire and his entire crew.

HEIMIE SCHWARM haggling patiently and craftily had at last agreed to Dollaire's greedy and somewhat exorbitant price for the Alouette's cargo and Dollaire had fixed a rendezvous—given Heimie Schwarm a position out here where the schooner would be waiting at 10 o'clock tonight—the position that Buck O'Mara in turn had handed on to Kiengell Smudge Karea and Geordie Napp the skippers of the three boats that were speeding abreast of one another now in eager haste to keep the last rendezvous that Dollaire would ever make.

It must be almost 10 o'clock now. At the speed the boats were traveling it could not take long for them to reach their objective unless the Alouette was at some considerable distance up or down the coast from the point of their departure—which was not likely.

Colin drew his hand across his forehead. It came away wet—not with spray. The other two boats carrying Heimie Schwarm's experienced rum runners, were to look after the disposal of the Alouette's cargo and the schooner itself; this boat that he was on carried the Mask's murder squad of which he was one, with Buck O'Mara in command.

The business-like snub-nosed automatic with which he had been supplied bulged in his pocket. The job of Buck O'Mara's mob had nothing to do with the disposal of the cargo—their job was merely to put Dollaire and all his crew on the spot and then return to shore. Hideous—even if it were by way of retaliation!

Dollaire, suspecting nothing would be taken by surprise, and he and his men mowed down. And he, Colin, must appear to take an active part in the killings. There was no way out of that. No bullet of his, of course, would find its mark anywhere; but if he were caught at that sort of thing, or the slightest suspicion was aroused that he was playing a passive role, his life would not be worth a second's purchase.

A hideous dilemma!

To Be Continued.

The Stars Say

For Wednesday, Sept. 6.

This day may be notable for a bit of sudden news having an enlivening influence on current affairs and possibly calling for an abrupt move, change or travel, according to the actuating mutual aspects of the planets. Or it may simply be a word of cheery or sensational gossip, or revolutionary information, inciting to change of plans rather radical in bearing on future movements.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for some sudden news or information which may bring about radical change in plans, quick decisions or actions of far-reaching influence on the affairs.

A child born on this day may be keen and brilliant of intellect, but practical, industrious and faithful in its labors.

Notable nativity: James K. Hackett, actor.

ENTIRE COMMUNITY SCRIP ISSUE CASHED

By International News Service

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 5—All of the 1,300 scrip certificates issued last spring by the board of trade at East Cleveland, a suburb, have come home—still cashable at par.

Babe Ruth was given number 1132 several months ago. His came back with three indorsements, but most of them had many more than that—some bearing even 17 signatures.

Historical societies, collectors and banks all over the country have asked the East Cleveland trade board to let them have samples of the scrip.

Given in Marriage

BY ADELE GARRISON

Lee Chow, Upon Madge's Return, Bolts the Library Door.

FOR a petrified instant after Lee Chow's suave query, I stood motionless and speechless. How had he found out that I had been talking to my father in the library, next to the little study where I had left him? Or was he simply making a shrewd guess?

Of one thing I was certain, and the knowledge gave me courage. He could not possibly have overheard a word we were saying, or even an intonation which would permit him a conjecture as to the subject of our conversation. The method of talking from the side of the mouth, which criminals and their detectors use, and which I learned from my father and Lillian during my apprenticeship to them in the war-time secret service, makes speech inaudible an incredibly short distance away. Nor can it be interpreted by lip reading.

There was but one answer to be made and I made it promptly, and with as plausible an air of carelessness as I could muster.

"I always consider myself fortunate in finding my father," I said easily. "Indeed, I am always sure of finding him waiting for me if I am out of the house. He likes to feel that I am safely indoors before he goes to sleep. I suppose some daughters would be terribly bored by having what they might call a fussy father, but I like it. More than that, I love the thought, and him for cherishing it."

I had spoken with the sincerity I always feel when discussing my father's care for me, and I wondered if I were mistaken in thinking that the inscrutable face of the Chinese had relaxed ever so little. When he spoke, I began to hope that he had taken my explanation at its face value.

"He is a good father," he said, then added, "Is he still waiting up for you?"

"Oh no," I replied quickly, feeling that the occasion justified the falsehood. "He went down the hall just as I came in here."

That part of my statement was true, at least, I told myself, and Lee Chow nodded.

"No one else is likely to disturb us?" he asked. "The servants—"

"Will not come in this part of the house again tonight," I told him truthfully. "They have enough to do to get the kitchen cleared up, and they will go to bed directly afterward. No, we are perfectly safe from intrusion."

He rose and bowed to me, then walked toward the door communicating with the library.

"I should like to look into the next room, if you do not mind," he said. "Someone might have decided to read a bit before going to bed."

He put his hand upon the latch, then turned to me with a creditable assumption of casual suprise.

"It is locked," he said, and I wondered how many seconds after my departure from the room he had waited to try that door the first time.

"Yes, I generally keep it locked," I returned lightly. "This is my sanctum sanctorum, you know, and I try to keep it free from intrusion. But I always carry a key in every bag I possess even my evening one, so I can unlock it for you in a trice."

I took the key from my bag and, going up to him, bent and unlocked the door and threw it open. Lee Chow, with a bow and a muttered apology, went past me and walked through the room, scutinizing every corner of it. Pausing only to take the key from the lock, I followed him, dangling the key conspicuously. As he, apparently satisfied, turned back toward the little room, I pretended to catch my foot against an old-fashioned floor grating through which the furnace heat comes up and stumbling, dropped the key which fell far below, with a little tingle of metal.

"Oh how stupid of me!" I said. "But it really doesn't matter tonight and I have no other keys to this door."

"No, it really does not matter," Lee Chow repeated, except that I want to make sure there are no eavesdroppers intended or by chance, to our conversation, so I know you will not mind my doing this."

He walked across the room as he spoke to the door leading from the library into the hall, and shot its old fashioned bolt into place.

"There!" he said. "Now we are safe from intrusion, as far as this room is concerned. But let us go back to the other and cozier room. It lends itself better to confidential communications and I shall sit far enough from the hall door so that no one outside can possible hear me. It is this room of which I am afraid."

STUDIES COLLEGE WOMEN'S CAREERS

Dayton Co-ed Traces Activities After Graduation.

By International News Service

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 5.—Interests of college women after graduation are being studied by Miss Frances Jones of Dayton in working for her doctor's degree at Ohio State university.

Miss Jones started her study last year under the Ellen Victorie Dobbs fellowship given by Pi Lambda Theta, national educational sorority. She will continue this year under a fellowship of the Carnegie Foundation in its alumni relations research.

Since receiving her bachelor's degree in 1927 and her master's a year later, both from Ohio State, Miss Jones has been active in several university groups. She is national president of Chi Delta Phi, speech arts sorority, and of the Ohio State University Association's Alumnae Council. She has also been second vice president of Ohio State's alumni association and has done field work for the children's department of the Literary Guild.

Her study is confined to Ohio State alumnae, as being representative of university women generally. The study so far has shown that alumnae interests do not differ greatly from those of non-college women she says.

Among the factors studied by Miss Jones are types of magazines read, hobbies, club memberships, and community interests. The survey results, she believes, will help in the formulation of programs for alumnae groups and in alumnal education movements.

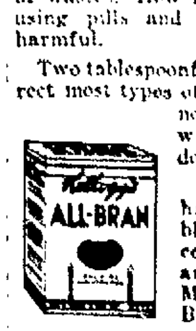

Health is half of success

FEW men achieve their goal without vitality and drive. And so many are held back from their best by a common ailment: constipation. It dulls energy, often causes headaches, sleeplessness. It takes the vim out of your day's work.

Correct constipation by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Within the body, it becomes a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than using pills and drugs—so often harmful.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will correct most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

ALL-BRAN also has iron for the blood. At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

A Fighting Minority.

The Anti-Saloon league, in convention at Chicago, gave an indication that it will be an active part of a minority to retain the eighteenth amendment. The indication was a program specifically describing the intention to furnish utmost opposition to the repeal movement.

This is permissible, of course, but scarcely creditable to the good sense of the movement's leaders. Two-thirds of the states necessary to ratify the 21st amendment have voted favorably to that end. No one questions that 12 more states will vote the same way. The battle is over.

The energy of a fighting minority better had be turned to the cause of temperance, for which a natural opening has been created. There is real need for a purposeful group to constitute itself as the foundation of a temperance movement.

It is said that the British gradually are achieving prohibition by this device. Unceasing effort to promote temperance is having its effect. In this connection, it is recalled that some eminent prohibitionists have admitted that the 18th amendment better might have been forgotten when it was grafted to the Constitution, because the temperance movement was coming along speedily without it.

The amendment, however, obliterated a great deal that had been accomplished. The effects make an old story, which should be as familiar to prohibitionists as it is to anti-prohibitionists. Not the least important fact in it is the failure of prohibitionists to continue their campaign of public education after they had succeeded in getting the amendment into the Constitution.

They have an opportunity now to pick up that project where they left off more than a decade ago. The country needs an active dry minority to balance the wet majority. It would be a tragedy if that minority were to allow itself to fight a straw man when there is real fighting to be done on the new front.

The Troublesome Commodity.

Americans have been hearing much about the necessity of helping the producers of this and that commodity, so it was only natural that the helpers finally came to the case of the gold miners. By all the rules of reason, gold became a commodity like copper or any other metal when the government abandoned the gold standard. Yet, until President Roosevelt's executive order of a few days ago, sale of gold was forbidden in the world market.

Historians have shown that the embargo on gold exports, coupled with official prohibition against personal possession of gold except in negligible amounts, has no counterpart in all the days of popular government. It was an order which stood in many minds as the symbol of a government which is practicing many of the methods of a "beneficent dictatorship."

Yet, even now sale of gold is a highly restricted business. The metal's handling is put under the tight control of the secretary of the treasury. There is not a free gold market in this country, despite the permission which has been granted to export the metal. An effort has been made to straighten out certain inconsistencies, but much remains to be done.

The President's order includes a renewal of his previous order limiting the acquirement of monetary gold to the federal reserve banks. It is stated in strong, unequivocal terms, but the department of justice still shows no signs of demonstrating to known hoarders that the order has teeth. The attorney general seems to be reluctant to prosecute.

Regarding all this, great trouble with gold, one cannot escape the obvious conclusion that gold still must be the "curse of mankind"—the "last corruption of degenerate man." To be sure, its pursuit these modern days is described politely in meaty terms of economic reasoning, but it is still pursuit of the metal which has tried men sorely through all the ages.

Pennies.

First acquaintance with a new tax never is pleasant. Fortunately, the annoyance rarely gets sharper with time, unless it is kept sharp with deliberate intent.

Ohio consumers have started to pay taxes on another list of selected commodities. The first extra pennies have been extracted from unwilling hands. The first protests have been registered with clerks, and the first explanations delivered.

The new taxes are for relief work in Ohio communities. Proceeds from them will be apportioned to various districts in which there is special need. Whenever a penny, two pennies or more are added to the cost of an article or fee named in the relief legislation, it is for the purpose of keeping human beings from distress.

Before the end of this month it is probable that an additional set of taxes will be imposed for the purpose of furnishing funds for public education. When they are levied, taxpayers will be made conscious once more of the well known fact that modern government, which embraces many responsibilities formerly left to individuals, costs a great deal of money.

It is not feasible to show in every instance of taxation where the money goes. If it were, it is possible that a vast deal of resentment might be overcome by convincing taxpayers that there is more to be considered than his hatred of giving up his money. On the whole, of course, it is fortunate that people instinctively fight taxation, because it acts as an effective check on those who desire taxes. In special instances, however, there is nothing but the most thoughtless rantin[g] when a taxpayer objects strenuously to giving up [illegible] which will pay for a service he demands.

The Opportunity To Learn.

In a few more weeks [illegible] of young men and women will resume their studies in colleges and universities. Increased costs [illegible] fewer than there might have been, but [illegible] that the decrease will not be [illegible] the general decrease in opportunity.

A more widely held [illegible] might help to make the [illegible] resumption of higher education [illegible] handicap more clear. There is, [illegible] a tendency to view it solely in the light of [illegible] difficulties, without considering [illegible] been surmounted.

On the whole, education has fared [illegible] a period when its cost has been made [illegible] by the pinch of hard times. An ideal has been maintained at great sacrifice. It is through [illegible] generosity on the part of school teachers [illegible] school education, for instance, has been [illegible] without adequate funds. Teachers who [illegible] out pay were typical of the national attitude. Education must go on.

The son of the laboring man still has the opportunity to learn. It is not as easy as it should be and will be for him to compete on equal terms with the son of the wealthy man in self-advancement, but vast progress has been made and maintained. A public school education is assured. State universities, with low tuition fees, invite him to continue. The nation definitely has outgrown that period in which possession of wealth was requisite to possession of knowledge.

In the march of civilization, it marks an important advance. In the history of the United States, it marks progress far beyond that of other nations. It is a natural accompaniment of the idealism which has permeated American development—the idealism of opportunity for those classes which lack the wherewithal to buy opportunity without cooperative action. Today, as always, there are those who, either blindly or maliciously, would deny the opportunity, but they are hopelessly engaged in a losing battle. The opportunity to become educated is still open.

Certain people in the east, with nothing better to do apparently, have been gnawing on the old chestnut about whether soup is a food or a drink. To settle the argument—a palpable impossibility, of course—the Society for the Advancement of Better Living, whatever that may be, has donned the cloak of authority and pronounced it a food.

That entails the process of eating when soup is consumed, which seems to be the usual starting point for the argument. Someone hesitates on the right verb, not knowing whether to say he drank the soup or ate it, and the controversy is on again. It may be expected to bob up periodically.

Probably confusion is generated by failure to discriminate between soup and broth, which is thin soup. The process of eating broth resembles drinking so closely that one naturally hesitates to say he ate it. But real soup, of which there is a serious scarcity, does not contribute to any such errors. To be consumed, it must be eaten.

Properly made, it should resemble a thin stew. Its solid content should be great enough to permit successful fishing with a fork, if that were to be tolerated. Most certainly no bona fide soup ever can be poured from a spoon into the mouth. It must be taken into the mouth on the spoon and removed from that instrument with a firm and steady pressure of the tongue and lips.

Obviously, most so-called soup is nothing but broth—and very bad broth at that. It resembles exactly neither one nor the other, being something less than soup and something unlike broth. It is hard to imagine anyone taking it very seriously, so naturally it is tossed off as quickly as possible. Small wonder that one hesitates to say he ate it, and is not sure he can say he drank it. Its miserable weakness makes the mistake a natural one.

Free Wheeling, Old Style.

When a Clinton county farmer bought a new buggy this week crowds gathered and stared. The storekeeper was excited, too. It was the first buggy he had sold in 10 years.

But what days those used to be when buggies were appreciated, when customers dropped in to look at the stock every few days, and when a brightly varnished two-seater attracted as much attention as the "mystery model" of a new automobile.

Young blades then were as particular about sturdy spokes and proper upholstering as they have become in these later days about piston displacement and brakes. The introduction of rubber tires was as great an event as free wheeling.

In the evenings and on Sunday afternoons when they went spinning along the road behind a spirited mare, perhaps getting mixed up in a race or two along the way to the best girl's house, that buggy represented the ultimate in worldly possession. It was washed and dusted as carefully as a $2,000 roadster and to the proud owner it represented as great an investment.

If imitation be flattery, then think back with gratitude to the buggy makers who made of their product a thing so perfect that early automobile makers adopted its lines as their own. In the museum of transportation the buggy is entitled to stand in shining glory, its empty shafts mutely declaring the reason it failed to survive. In itself it had everything it takes, but the gasoline engine outdid its natural servant, the horse.

Daily Guide to Health

BY DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND.

Painful Neuralgia.

Neuralgia is a word commonly used to describe various vague and discomforting pains. In reality it is pain in a nerve, due to an inflammation or infection.

The sufferer from neuralgic pain usually describes it as "throbbing" or "shooting" or "burning" in character. It may be a constant pain or one that "comes and goes."

One of the most severe forms is that spoken of as "facial neuralgia." In this affliction the "facial nerve," or nerve of the face, is involved. The pain is of a serious nature, extremely uncomfortable, causing great distress and suffering.

Another common form is that attacking the shoulders or arms. Here, too, the pain is of a distressing nature and is often confused with rheumatism and arthritis. The sufferer has difficulty in moving his arms. He has intense pain upon the slightest exertion.

When the pain of neuralgia is mild it is apt to be neglected. As I have stated, it is often mistaken for rheumatism, neuritis or arthritis, and is disregarded. Since the disease is extremely difficult to cure when it is chronic, it should be treated upon the first complaint of pain.

No cure can be hoped for until the underlying cause is determined. The irritation or inflammation of the nerve may be due to an infection somewhere in the body. This may come from diseased teeth, nasal sinuses, tonsils, or gallbladder. When the cause is determined and removed, relief is obtained.

Do not be misled by the alleged virtues of patent medicines and other nostrums that are recommended for the relief of neuralgic pain. Relief may be obtained but may I assure you that it is only of a temporary nature. Bear in mind that permanent relief can only be obtained by complete removal of all centers of infection.

Sometimes localized infection can be determined only by careful X-ray examination of the teeth, sinuses and other suspected organs of the body. In other instances it may be necessary to have blood tests and other laboratory tests to determine whether infection is the root of the disorder. Regardless of the trouble and expense the relief is well worth the effort.

If you are a sufferer from neuralgia I would advise that you consult with your physician. He will give you a thorough physical examination and endeavor to determine the source of infection. If necessary, he will recommend the X-ray pictures and other tests that will help determine the exact cause and aid in its removal. Do not neglect this disorder.

Highlights of Ohio History

BY J. H. GALBRAITH

THE ADAIR LAW

The Adair law was not the first statute in Ohio restricting traffic in intoxicating liquors but it was one of the first provisions by which attempt was made to hold the dealer liable for damage or injury done by sales of liquor.

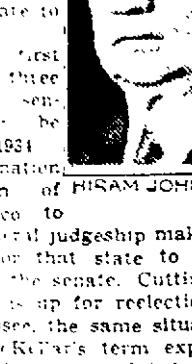

The author was William Adair, representative from Carroll county, who held that office in the legislature that sat from 1870 to 1872, and the one that sat from 1872 to 1874. The act was passed in the first legislature of which he was a member and his reelection would indicate that his measure was approved in his county at least.

The act provided that anyone who was injured or damaged, or who suffered in any way as the result of the excessive use of intoxicating liquors, might sue the person selling for damages not only actual but penal. It was intended to aid the wives of drunkards.

A Washington Daybook

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington, Sept. 5—Democratic leaders of the senate must view prospects in the congressional elections of next year with some degree of perplexity when they glance down the list of those in their own ranks as well as the Republican [illegible] who are to run again.

HIRAM JOHNSON

[illegible] first [illegible] three [illegible] senators must be elected in 1934.

The resignation of [illegible] Bratton of New Mexico to accept a federal judgeship makes it necessary for that state to elect two men to the senate. Cutting, a Republican, is up for reelection.

In Tennessee, the same situation prevails. McKellar's term expires. Bachman, who was appointed when Cordell Hull resigned to become secretary of state, must run again. Both are Democrats.

Montana's situation is identical with that of Tennessee. Wheeler's term comes to an end. Erickson, who relinquished the governor's chair to come to Washington to take the place of the late Tom Walsh, must face the electorate if he wants to retain his seat.

But it's not these double contests that worry the Democratic chieftains. They are easy as compared to another problem they have on their hands.

What troubles them is what course shall they pursue in the three states of New Mexico, California and Wisconsin if the three Republican senators up for reelection win in the primaries and enter the general elections.

Here's the situation.

In New Mexico, Bronson Cutting is up for reelection. Cutting came out wholeheartedly for Roosevelt against President Hoover in the campaign of last year. In Wisconsin, there's "Young Bob" LaFollette who did the same thing.

And out in California there's that senate veteran, Hiram Johnson, an ardent supporter of President Roosevelt, who will be out to keep his seat in the elections of next year.

All three of these men have been smiled upon by the administration. Cutting, it was rumored around cabinet-picking time, was offered a place in the Roosevelt official family, and declined.

Hiram Johnson was asked to go to London as a delegate to the world economic conference, but refused. "Young Bob" LaFollette was then approached, but also turned down the offer. Both of these senators have supported the President's legislative program almost in its entirety.

The question now arises as to what will be the attitude of the Democrats towards these three administration supporters. Will the party's support be thrown against them next year in an effort to put Democrats in their places?

No wonder the party stalwarts are scratching their heads.

Of course, it is possible to shorten the period of infancy for our children by some years, and there seems to be in the world a tendency to try the experiment.

The prime requisite for such an end is to make the toys practical and to substitute science for fairy tales, facts or fancy.

If a child has only machinery to play with, unodubtedly he will play with machinery, and he may, in the course of his play learn many valuable facts which will fit him early for practical life. If he has never heard of Santa Claus, of Cinderella and Snow-White, he may not miss them and will accept in their stead statistics of forest supplies and the life of the ant.

The world may in the end have gained valuable workers, but will it not have lost something of far greater importance?

For centuries the world has rested all its hopes in its dreamers and has valued imagination as worth more than dry facts. Imagination, like every other faculty, however, develops from practice and can be stunted or even entirely denied life by disuse.

Sympathy, idealism, even the further ranges of science into space, all depend upon the power to project ourselves into another world, to imagine what we have never seen.

The child who has read of giants and stretched his mind to visualize them may be more able to conceive of the vastness of the universe than he who has kept his attention fixed on the mechanical and productive aspects of the world about him. And is not the idea of dwarfs and fairies a possible preparation for the discussion of atoms?

And over and above all this is the enrichment of life which comes only to the child who has glimpsed the unseen.

THOMAS ROGERS, OHIO'S FIRST SPORTSMAN, RELATES AN ANECDOTE

Thomas Rogers, who may be regarded as one of Ohio's first real sportsmen, was such a poor shot when he started his hunting career that he killed his first bear only by double-crossing his old hunting partner, but he later became a skillful marksman.

All the early settlers killed for food, but Rogers would have starved if he had been compelled to depend on his own skill during his earlier trips. He tells about it in some interesting and amusing memoirs.

After many futile efforts he determined to kill a bear so he "tagged along" with an old hunter of considerable prowess. They struck the trail of a bear and at last the baying of the dogs told that it had been treed. They were in a woods filled with dense thickets and tangled vines, so young Rogers remained in the rear and allowed his companion to wear himself out breaking a passage through the undergrowth. Then as they neared the spots where the bear had taken its stand, Rogers, who had not been exerting himself, dashed ahead of his exhausted companion, ran to the foot of the tree and killed the bear from a distance of a few feet. The old hunter was furious but the boy had made his first big kill.

After that, Rogers hunted for many years on Paint Creek near Chillicothe. His favorite sport was night hunting for deer and he killed as many as three or four in a single night. A light was placed in a canoe with a shield to keep it from shining on the hunters. Then as one paddled the canoe along the stream, the other watched for deer which came down to the water to drink. Fascinated by the light, the animals often remained stationary and Rogers writes that he sometimes approached within 10 feet of the deer.

The feat in which he took greatest pride was the shooting of a buck which had evaded all hunters. Rogers was hunting at night in a canoe paddled by his brother when he sighted the big deer at a distance of 40 yards and killed him as the animal turned to run.

New York Day by Day

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Sept. 5—I was piloted through the children's ward of a large hospital today. Suddenly to quit the hubbub of a city street for this silent room of endless note is the most depressing of metropolitan contrasts. We came to see a little girl who at the moment was building blocks on her chest.

O. O. McIntyre

She was [illegible] with [illegible] hair and large [illegible] eyes. Her arms [illegible] eagerly around the nurse's [illegible] and inquired: "When may I try to walk?" The nurse replied: "[illegible] dear, I hope." But as we walked away she said in [illegible]: "She will never walk."

On many pillows, with picture books hung above, heads were buried in sleep. Tiny fists clutched as though [illegible] resentful of unfair comfort. Zigzaggy charts hung to every bed [illegible]. Others sat up with dolls [illegible] recovery by trying to cover themselves as we approached.

Stretched off from the rest was a flash of wizened faces and scrawny arms. Dull eyes seemed [illegible]. None made sounds but they twisted in slow snake-like motions a sort of boneless writhing. They call it "wasting disease." The sins of fathers and mothers!

In running through a pictorial film magazine just now it struck me that Edna May Oliver needs only a mannish style of dress and hair cut, plus a monocle, to become the uncanny likeness of George Arliss.

George Arliss was the vanguard leader of the invasion of British actors to the American stage. He essayed a foppish silly-ass dido with Mrs. Fiske in a play, if memory serves, called "The New York Idea." I remember interviewing him at breakfast at a hotel in Dayton, O. I had never seen a monocle before and Arliss to me was the replica of Punch's notion of a Picadilly toff. It was noontime and he asked me if I wouldn't have to bite. When I shook my head, he inquired: "You never take tiffin?" Not until I romped back to the office dictionary had I the vaguest idea what he meant. But I was so flustered I replied "No, mam."

In Dayton, too, I interviewed Olga Nethersole who perspired the hillbillies panting through "Sappho" at $2 top. With two other reporters—only their first names, Bert and Chester, cling to memory—I waited in the salon of her suite. She came out of a fresh-water shower in lacy negligee and wearing ostrich-plumed mules. As natural as breathing she reached for a cigaret, paused, and I was conscious she awaited a light. So I scratched one of those big buck matches on the seat of my trousers, and so long as I live I'll never forget the way my hand pitched in extending it to her. I often thought that the beginning of a nervous breakdown ten years later.

Incidentally, how trite is the opening sentence on the application an actor must sign in an effort to join Equity. It reads: "I hereby solemnly affirm that I am at present obtaining or endeavoring to obtain a living from the Theatrical Profession."

Modern parents' close-knit confidence with children is amazing to those of us reared in the clinch of stern discipline. I remember when Arthur Somers Roche's two boys were in short pants and their governess forbade candy except on state occasions. Yet Roche was chuckling about how the lads confessed they were out-witting her daily by having candy charged to him at the corner drug store. He maneuvered every way possible to keep them from being caught. But when they were, he offered no interference with punishment. They were on their own!

There is something wincing about the sudden tumble in midtown cut rate drug store windows of some best selling novel of a few months before. It is as though the books had been having a race down the hill of reduction and collapsed together in a heap. To me nothing is so forlorn as an abandoned best seller.

I remember stumbling across a tattered tome of mine in a lower Madison avenue second hand shop. It was at lowest scale—marked 10 cents. Further to accent its ignomy, some donor had inscribed on a fly leaf to a friend: "You may not like this but it will make dandy shaving papers."—Copyright, 1933, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

LOVERS AND OTHERS

A man seldom stops to ask himself whether he has charm or not. When it comes to doing the charming, most men leave all the heavy work to the women.

For some reason, it's usually the easy-going, lovable husband who needs the most watching when there are other attractive women around. And the sort whom you can wind around your finger is likely to be pliant enough to be easily unwound—by the next woman.

The more a man sees of suntanned backs, sunburned thighs and half-portion bathing suits, the more heartily he approves of Mother Eve's sagicity when she invented clothes, and the more he admires the Eskimo maiden's sartorial effects.

Since love is the most exciting and absorbing game of a woman's life, it's amazing how little she ever learns about when to play her winning cards and when to keep a poker face and sit tight.

Intuition is the cold chill that runs up and down a man's back when he decides that it is time to "cut bait" and ask the girl to marry him, or to reel in and run.

Nowadays a man appears to judge a girl's character by her back. If her shoulderblades and vertebrae are sweet and innocent-looking, he seldom stops to glance into her eyes.

In the matrimonial market, an old bachelor is a shop-worn remnant; a divorced man is a second-hand article; but a widowerer is a treasured heirloom, inherited only through death.

A matron usually has more poise than a young girl—probably because she realizes that, when she tips the scales at 160 pounds and has a 36 inch waistline, there's no adventure ahead to get excited about and nothing worse to worry about.

Glimpses of the Past

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Wednesday, Sept. 5, 1923.

News reports from areas in Japan devastated by earthquakes and fire related details of widespread starvation and suffering. One report said more than 1,000,000 people in Tokyo were facing starvation.

It was announced at the Marion postoffice that the sale of Harding memorial stamps here had reached approximately 300,000.

Appointment of a receiver for the Marion Packing Co. was asked in a suit brought by two stockholders in the common pleas court.

G. Farr Larue, Marion justice of the peace, established some sort of a record by performing three marriage ceremonies between 3 and 4:20 p. m.

Robert Jacoby, editor of the Harding High school weekly publication, The Quiver, announced that the first issue would be on sale Sept. 17.

Miss Edith Mary Mitton of Marion and Elza Gabriel of Prospect, were united in marriage at their future home in Prospect by Rev. M. Green.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

It was Friday, Sept. 5, 1913.

It was indicated in London at the headquarters of the Women's Social and Political union, that Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, who was planning a tour of the United States, would introduce militant methods in the woman's suffrage campaign in this country.

In a gold medal oratorical contest held in connection with the ninth annual convention of the Marion County W. C. T. U. at the United Brethren church here, Karl Bolander of Marion won first honors in competition with six other contestants.

Mrs. Thorpe Paddock was hostess to members of the M. O. B. club at a linen shower at her home on North State street given in honor of Miss Edith Smith, whose marriage to Day Orr was to take place soon.

Members of the N. R. S. club were entertained by Miss Florence Apt at her home on North Grand avenue.

UNCLE SAM ATTACKS "RACKET" BREWERIES

... New ... in Ruling ... Power of U. S. ... Jury.

... News Service

... Pa. — Uncle ... a new and ... wield against ... the action of ... H. Kirkpat- ... sustaining ... the United ... revocation ... illegal brew- ... jury was in- ... in a revocation proceeding by the bureau of industrial alcohol here when the government's case against an alleged racket brewery was hamstrung by recalcitrant witnesses. The commissioner presiding at the hearing lacked the judicial authority to compel the witnesses to speak more freely. But, under penalty of a contempt charge they were forced to testify more intimately before the federal inquisitorial body.

Attorneys for the brewery at once appealed to the courts when government counsel introduced the evidence thus obtained by the grand jury in the revocation proceedings.

They argued the government's unprecedented legal maneuver violated the rule of secrecy shielding grand jury proceedings and charged "bad faith" on the part of federal officials.

Their claims were flatly dismissed by Judge Kirkpatrick in a six-page opinion. He ruled that the traditional rule of secrecy can be "relaxed" when so required in the "interests of justice" or in a general investigation of crime and corruption. Pointing out that the powers of the grand jury are almost limitless, Judge Kirkpatrick declared they could be curtailed only because of "abuses" by prying into domestic or private business affairs.

"The inquisitorial power of the grand jury is the most valuable function which it possesses today and, far more than any supposed protection which it gives to the accused, justifies its survival as an institution," he said. "As an engine of discovery against organized and far-reaching crime, it has no counterpart. Policy emphatically forbids that there should be any curtailment of it except in the clearest cases."

An automatic device to record flying time has been invented to meter charges for airplane service and to prevent unauthorized use of planes.

AMERICANS LEAD IN RIFLE TOURNAMENT

Heavy Assault on Targets Puts Yanks in Front in Team Matches.

By The Associated Press

CAMP PERRY, O., Sept. 5— American teams brought the National Rifle association's annual small bore tournament to a close with a target assault which put the United States in front in two international team matches and set a new record in one of them.

The United States 20-man team in the international small bore Dewar match piled up a total score yesterday of 7,918 out of a possible 8,000 surpassing the previous mark of 7,882 set by the United States team a year ago. The match is fired on the 50 and 100-yard ranges.

Another record was set in the Dewar match by R. W. Hughes, 19, of Youngstown, O., and W. R. Walsh of Union City, N. J., when each scored 399 out of 400. Hughes outranked Walsh in the target standings on direct hits.

England, Australia, Canada, South Africa and India are the other competitors for the Dewar trophy, which the Americans have won each year since 1926. The English team, which scored 7,529 in July is the only other team to report thus far.

A new arrangement of lenses enables close ups or distant pictures to be taken with an airplane camera regardless of the plane's altitude.

About one third of all Swiss motion picture theaters are equipped with sound apparatus, of which about one third have American systems.

NEW YORK SUN AT CENTURY MARK

The New York Sun, just completing its first century of publication, evolved from the small four-page sheet shown. Benjamin H. Day printed its first issue Sept. 3, 1833. Traditionally linked to The Sun is the famed Charles A. Dana, editor for many years. Frank A. Munsey at one time owned it. William T. Dewart is now its president.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK — One hundred years ago the Sun rose on the journalistic horizon of New York.

The first number appeared Sept. 3, 1833. A folded sheet of four pages, each 11 by 8 inches, it was written, set and printed by one man, 23-year-old Benjamin H. Day.

Dana Part of Tradition

The Sun tradition runs back through the days of Charles A. Dana. It has grown with New York and established itself as an institution.

The paper's first substantial achievement was its success with street sales at a penny a copy. It had broken into a sixpenny field, and the experiment was a daring one for a daily publication. In a bare two months it had a circulation of 2,000; in another two months the circulation doubled, and in a year it was 10,000.

Benjamin Day sold the Sun in 1838 to his brother-in-law Moses Yale Beach for $40,000. Half a century later he said:

"The silliest thing I ever did was to sell that paper!"

Under the Beach regime, pigeons were used to speed news dispatches from incoming steamships to The Sun office. This craze for speed inspired Edgar Allan Poe to hoax a story about an airship flying from England to South Carolina. The Sun commented on Poe's imagining:

"We by no means think such a project impossible."

Sold After Civil War

The sun carried on through the turbulent period of the war between the states, and in 1868 Mr. Beach sold the paper for $175,000 to a group headed by Charles A. Dana, who founded The Sun Printing and Publishing association. Dana was editor until 1897, and in this period The Sun contributed glittering passages to journalistic history.

A famous managing editor, Chester S. Lord, was "boss" of the news staff from 1880 to 1913.

Frank A. Munsey bought the paper in 1916, and for a brief period The Sun was amalgamated with another Munsey acquisition, the New York Herald. The paper appeared under the title of The Sun and New York Herald but Munsey soon separated The Sun, and changed it from a morning to an evening paper.

Ownership Mutualized

When Munsey died in 1925, he bequeathed The Sun to the Metropolitan Museum of Art. William T. Dewart purchased it from the museum in 1926 and, in accordance with Munsey's wishes, Dewart arranged the mutualization of The Sun by issuing stock to several hundred of the employes. Dewart now is president of the Sun Printing and Publishing association, and Keats Speed is managing editor.

UPPER SANDUSKY CAR IN ACCIDENT

Howard Walton and Two Members of Family Hurt in Crash Near Toledo.

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 5—Eight persons were injured when an automobile crashed into a parked truck on the Telegraph road early today. They were brought to a hospital here.

Howard Walton, 41, of Upper Sandusky, O., driver of the truck, was the most seriously injured. He suffered a fractured skull and cuts and bruises. His wife, Mrs. Pearl Walton, was bruised and a son Stanley, 13, cut on the head, and another son, Kenneth, 9, was uninjured.

Thomas Henderson, 48, of Toledo, driver of the passenger car, suffered a possible fractured left leg and bruises. His wife, Mrs. Louise Henderson, 40, was cut on the face and suffered leg injuries. Their daughter, Mary, 12, and Ellen Lee, 8, were cut and bruised. Mrs. E. J. Fleming of Columbus was injured slightly. The accident happened when Walton stopped his truck to repair a tire and the Henderson car struck the truck.

BAILEY UNDER HEAVY GUARD AFTER BREAK

tempt to resist after he wrecked Tresp's car while speeding through Ardmore streets to elude officers.

Hale Dunn, Ardmore chief of police, who with Bennett Wallace and Raymond Shoemaker captured Bailey, said Bailey was as white as paper and he sort of looked at me with a sickly grin on his face and his hands flew up in the air."

An hour before the motorcade set out for Oklahoma City, Earl Scott, automobile salesman, reported a well-dressed youth carrying a violin case, stopped his automobile at the spot where Bailey was captured and forced him at pistol point to drive northward on the main highway.

As another automobile, occupied by two men, approached from a side road, Scott said, the stranger waved a handkerchief, ordered him to stop and got into the other car, which sped northward. The report was taken to substantiate the tip that friends of Bailey were awaiting him.

On Bailey's wrists as he was brought to Oklahoma City were the blood-flecked handcuffs worn by Frank Nash, outlaw killed at Kansas City along with four officers, when machine gunners apparently attempted to free him July 17. Bailey is accused in that slaying and the St. Valentine's day massacre of seven men in Chicago, in 1929, and the world's largest bank robbery, the $2,000,000 looting of the Lincoln, Nebr., National Bank and Trust Co., September, 1929.

Floyd Taunts Bailey

He was sentenced to 10 to 50 years' imprisonment in connection with the $32,000 robbery of a Fort Scott, Kas., bank but escaped from the Kansas state prison last Memorial day, with Wilbur Underhill, and nine other desperate convicts, after kidnaping the warden.

While in jail at Dallas, Bailey was quoted as referring to Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd, Oklahoma desperado, as "small fry," an incident which was recalled last night as three men and a woman fled from Enid after a gun battle with officers leaving a letter in their abandoned car addressed to Bailey. It was unsigned but gave the impression it was written by Floyd.

Taunting Bailey with being in custody while "I'm outside," and scoffing at "tough guys" stealing "a harmless man," the letter stated

"I don't carry guns around with me to impress anyone. I carry them as a dire necessity. I know some day I am going to lose but when that time comes, I will not throw up my hands and reply on brains to get me out. I may be a 'small time hister' and you the brains of money, a $200,000 tot, still I'm outside while you probably are wracking your enormous brain to beat the chair."

The three men and the woman, reported wounded, wrecked three stolen automobiles in their mad dash toward the Kansas border. They last were reported near Alva, Okla., where they stole an automobile from a young farmer who stopped to help them out of a ditch.

CITY WORKERS HEAR LABOR DAY SPEECHES

Not until 1916 and 1917 were other unions formed here, he said.

The Marion Central Labor union was the next step, Bolin said, and received its charter on Aug. 30, 1918. "I maintain that the right of workers to join labor unions should not be denied by anyone," Bolin said. "This advance of labor and civilization toward a higher and better life calls for organization of all those who toil with hand and brain."

Appeals for cooperating between city dwellers and the farming class were made by Wharton, who appeared as a last-minute addition to the program. He termed present developments a fight for the common people, who, he said, must stand together or perish. Destroyed purchasing power of the farmers has created a serious problem, Wharton said, and has resulted in the closing of innumerable factories and mills.

Hundreds of children of all ages accompanied their parents to the celebration and were entertained with games and contests during and after the speaking program.

A major portion of the audience were served lunches from donations of food, milk and ice cream from Marion merchants, dairymen and individuals. The donations totaling more than $100, were solicited by a committee of 10 members of the Federal Labor union.

Punishment Promised for Labor Violators

Organized labor's chief spokesman, William Green, ted Ohio in the observation of Labor day in an address at Akron in which he declared the right of the working man to organize is now part of the law of the land."

The president of the American Federation of Labor announced his organization intends to "invoke punishment, through proper court procedure, upon those employers who are charged with and found guilty of violating the law."

He referred to the collective bargaining provisions of the industrial codes under the recovery act. The NRA, he asserted, opens "the door of opportunity for industry and labor." He appealed for support of the recovery program and said he believed "more than a million new members" have joined labor organizations."

Governor George White also spoke at the Akron meeting referring briefly to the NRA and the labor movement.

At a Labor day meeting in Niles, Congressman Stephen Young, Democrat of Cleveland, charged William F. Stevenson, national chairman of the Home Owners Loan Corp., with inefficiency. Young said he will write a letter to President Roosevelt asking Stevenson's removal.

GOVERNMENT READY TO QUIT AT HAVANA

police forces over proposals to cut pay and the size of the forces has been brewing since the Aug. 11 uprising against Machado.

Sergeant Batista, the leader, rallied his forces, announced through two aides the rebels' demands, passively heard Secretary of War Horacio Ferrer harangue them about their duties, and then started the revolt.

They immediately deployed machine guns throughout the city, and declared they had displaced all their officers.

"We will not relinquish control," the sergeant-leader said, "until a truly revolutionary government has been established in Cuba. Then the command will be given back to the officers."

The insurrectionists seized all barracks in and about Havana, and claimed that all units stationed in the interior of the island had joined their movement.

Named Chief

Sergeant Batista was named provisional chief of staff. All commissioned officers were either arrested or sent under guards to their homes. In all, they said, 30 officers were detained.

This morning the mutineers broadcast a proclamation declaring that one aim of their uprising was to complete a "cleansing" or reorganization of the army.

Ferrer, in an interview granted an Associated Press representative, attributed the movement to the proposed pay cuts and the suggested reduction in army personnel.

The proclamation, dated Camp Columbia, where the movement started, said the officers were arrested, said the principal purposes of the movement aimed at an economic reconstruction of the nation and a political reorganization based on a constitutional assembly; respect for foreign obligations; and the immediate formation of courts.

It claimed said the movement was not aimed at changing the present De Cespedes government—that, he said would be left to the people.

He denied the insurrectionists had any communistic tendencies, although he emphasized the radical nature of the revolt.

Clashes Expected

Leaders of the A B C, one of the main opposition groups against Machado did not comment except to indicate that apparently only the younger members of the body had joined in the movement.

Meanwhile, the possibility grew that clashes would follow between the rebels and A B C members, many of whom are known to be well armed.

It was called significant that the insurrectionists invaded the officials of the Judician police, disarmed and imprisoned Chief Rodriquez and Assistant Chief Loyola, both of whom are A B C men.

Unconfirmed reports said American Ambassador Sumner Welles yesterday told members of another erstwhile revolutionary group, the O C R R, that Cuba's independence would not be threatened provided any change of government would be effected without bloodshed.

Secretary of Sanitation Presno admitted that "we are up in the air"—referring, apparently, to government and cabinet leaders.

Havana was thrown into a state of intense excitement as news of the fast developments spread.

Young recently obtained a settlement of a personal injury claim, it was reported, and had placed part of the money in the purse.

GRAND JURY STARTS WORK ON 15 CASES

With two cases taken off its program by withdrawal of charges, the September term grand jury today began work on a list of 14 criminal cases.

The jury is scheduled to consider 14 cases during a three-day session. Five cases were scheduled for consideration today, and 21 witnesses were subpoenaed to testify to the grand jury regarding these cases.

Cases withdrawn from the list are charges of manufacturing liquor, faced by Ralph and William Kenyon of Marion. Officials said these charges were withdrawn and charges of possession of liquor filed in their place.

Four changes in the personnel of the jury were made this morning. John Pommert and C. D. Irey, both of Caledonia, Adam Goyer of Marion R. F. D. No. 5 and Milo Gast of Prospect were excused by Judge George B. Scofield. Persons named for jury service in their places are Clifford Stoll, Mrs. Fannie Benson, Harold Geissler and C. A. Watkins, all of Marion.

A variety of charges are listed in the 13 cases awaiting grand jury investigation. They include three forgery cases, two each of breaking and entering, rape, auto theft and mishandling of mortgaged property, and one each of cutting with intent to wound, assault and battery and perjury.

The last case was added this morning when Willie Thomas, 32, colored, of 250 Senate street, was bound over to the grand jury from municipal court on a charge of breaking and entering the residence of T. M. Sellers of North Main street on Aug. 30.

Must Obtain Permits Before Shipping Hogs

Farm Bureau Head Cites Changes Ordered in Federal Program To Cut Swine Population.

Individual permits to market pigs and sows under the government's slaughter campaign must be obtained by the owner of the livestock, Jerald E. Miller manager of the Marion County Livestock Cooperative association said today.

P. L. Yarling a representative of the Cleveland producers association, attended a meeting of managers of cooperative associations in Marion and nearby counties at the Marion County Farm bureau offices Sunday afternoon and gave an explanation of the latest changes in the program.

Must Get Permits

To avoid speculation on anti-payments paid by the government, it is explained Yarling said, that farmers planning shipments must apply to the Cleveland terminal market for permits to ship on stipulated dates.

Miller said the farmers may purchase stock only by the Cleveland stock yards for permits or may obtain application blanks through the association here. When the permits are granted the farmers are informed on what date they may make their shipments, which must not exceed 200 head, Miller said.

Miller said he will make shipments Wednesday and Thursday of 500 head each, through permits granted farmers in the county for that week. The next shipments, he said, will be made until sufficient permits have been obtained for another 500 head load. The shipments, Miller said, are by rail.

Weight Reduced

Another change Yarling told the managers is the reduction of the minimum weight required of sows eligible for the government bonus from 250 pounds to 240 pounds.

Attending the meeting Sunday were association managers from Crawford, Wyandot, Union, Morrow, Delaware and several other counties.

Miller said his shipments under the government's plan since a week ago Saturday have totaled 2,500 head, including a shipment of 500 hogs yesterday.

Police Wondering Who Is Going To Get the Children

Who lost three c[illegible]?

That's a question bothering the police department today following the recovery of three allegedly stolen chickens and the arrest of the suspected thief early this morning on North State street.

Although the chickens have been recovered and a man arrested and thought by police to have stolen them, no report has been made of any theft of the chickens police said.

But the arrested suspect, Rosey Moss, 40, colored, of 150 Grant street, had a half pint of alleged whiskey in his possession, police charged. Consequently, he was charged in municipal court this morning with illegal possession of liquor and was fined $100 and costs. He pleaded guilty.

When arrested today about 2:30 a. m., police said Moss was carrying the chickens, white Leghorns, in a gunny sack. Since his arrest police said he has refused to answer questions concerning his possession of the chickens.

NEVADA YOUTH HELD IN THEFT OF AUTOS

Sheriff Says Jay Burnside Has Confessed Stealing Cars.

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, O., Sept. 5—Sheriff Lawrence Weatherholtz today said Jay Burnside, about 20, of Nevada, captured in a cornfield near Nevada yesterday by a posse after he had eluded a deputy sheriff, had confessed to theft of two automobiles within the last week.

Automobiles Burnside admitted stealing, according to Sheriff Weatherholtz, are those of Mrs. Maude Hagerman and Mayor C. M. Coon, both of Nevada. Mayor Coon's car was stolen a week ago and recovered two days later. Mrs. Hagerman's car was stolen Wednesday and recovered Thursday. It was reported that Burnside was carrying keys to fit the ignition locks of both cars.

A deputy sheriff attempted to arrest Burnside for investigation, but Burnside ran out a rear door of his home in Nevada and escaped into a nearby field, it was reported. A posse of volunteers headed by the deputy later captured him after surrounding a cornfield into which he had fled.

WOOD BEATS BRITON IN SPEEDBOAT RACE

Defeated Challenger, However, Already Planning New Attempt Next Year.

By The Associated Press

MARINE CITY, Mich., Sept. 5—Latest members of that growing club of motorboat pilots who have been defeated by Gar Wood, Hubert Scott-Paine already is planning to renew his challenge for the Harmsworth trophy next year.

The first remark of the British challenger after he lost the second and final heat of the 1933 race on the St. Clair river yesterday contained an assertion that he will be back in 1934 "if I can make it and bring over a boat that can give Gar Wood a better race."

A "better race" of necessity means a winning race, for he lost by only 22.33 seconds, the closest finish ever seen in the international event which annually establishes speedboat supremacy.

Wood's time for the 35 nautical miles, in which Miss America X, was 27.48.92, an average of 86.937 statute miles an hour. He did not extend his four motors. The time of the little metal hulled Britain III was 28.11.25; an average of 85.789.

Scott-Paine had to produce some of the most sensational driving ever seen in these waters to attain the speed, exceeding 100 miles an hour at times on the straightaway. His tiny craft bobbed almost completely out of the water at times and he had difficulty on the turns.

TAX COMMITTEE HAS CROWDED SCHEDULE

School Finances Remains Most Important Matter Before Body.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 5—Formulation of a school finance plan was the task before a joint legislative committee opening a series of public hearings today.

With a poor relief program approved, the legislature recessed last week until Sept. 12, to allow the committee time to consider new revenue sources for the schools.

On today's calendar were proposals to tax slot machines, dog racing tracks and horse racing "bookies." The latter plan was presented by Senator V. D. Emmons of Summit county.

Senator J. Eugene Roberts, Republican of Mahoning county, proposed a similar law to include dog and all other forms of racing.

Tomorrow afternoon the committee will hear opponents of a plan to include parochial schools in the school program. Supporters of the proposal were heard last week. They asked that the parochials be allowed $2,500,000 and offered to match that amount with $3,750,000 to assure continued operation of their schools.

HEAVY RURAL VOTE FEARED IN VERMONT

Clear Skies Dawn on Twenty-fifth State To Act on Repeal.

By The Associated Press

MONTPELIER, Vt., Sept. 5—The weather man smiled on the prohibitionists today as Vermont began balloting on repeal.

Clear skies meant a heavy rural vote—traditionally dry—but anti-prohibitionists remained confident the city ballot boxes would make Vermont the twenty-fifth state to repeal the Eighteenth amendment.

The polls opened at 10 a. m., and were scheduled to close at 8 p. m.

The total vote was not expected to approach the proportions of the vote cast at a regular state election—partly because there were no other issues on the ballot and partly because there was a general feeling that Vermont's action would make little difference in the final outcome of the country-wide repeal campaign.

Hitler-Wagner Romance Dies As She Defies Nazis

The oft-reported love link between Adolf Hitler, German chancellor, and Frau Winifred Wagner, who has been carrying on the Bayreuth tradition, has become only a memory. But they still are friends.

BAYREUTH, Germany—The rumored romance between Adolf Hitler and Winifred Wagner, gossiped about for years, apparently is off. [illegible] of each say that [illegible] survived.

Hitler is so busy with his chancellorship and his Nazi party that marriage is said to be further from his thoughts than ever.

Also, Frau Wagner is one of the few Germans who have refused to bow to a Nazi decree. The moment she heard of a radio order which barred Toscanini and some other distinguished American conductors from German air waves she posted to Berlin and bearded Hitler in his den.

She told him the radio ban was a big mistake. Also she insisted that her star Jewish singers, among them Emanuel List and Alexander Kipnis, must be retained.

She had her way about the soloists. But the broadcast decree held, and Toscanini refused to come to Bayreuth.

Outwardly relations continued cordial. Hitler came to the festival here and Frau Wagner gave a reception in his honor.

But she paid such a superlative tribute to Heinz Tietjen, manager of her festival operas, that gossip switched from Adolf to Heinz.

He Battles Jack Frost To Win College Tuition

By The Associated Press

WAUPACA, Wis.—On the outcome of his one-man aerial war against an invisible enemy, George Parker is staking his chances of returning to school this fall.

Parker, a 22-year-old aviator, has declared war on Jack Frost and has contracted for a series of night air raids against him.

The prize of this Redgranite, Wis., collegian will be $400—money enough to permit him to renew his studies at Northwestern university.

The battleground is a 400-acre field of potatoes in a reclaimed swamp near here. Marked only by the drone of the second-hand airplane's motor, the battle is waged on still cloudless nights, between midnight and 5 in the morning.

On still nights cold air tends to flow into low places, and when temperatures are low the air gathering in swampy areas may be cold enough to form frost there although other regions a few hundred yards away escape entirely.

Keeps Air Stirred Up

Parker's strategy is to keep the air in motion so that the cold currents cannot settle into the low places. It's all strictly on a "win or lose" basis.

If the potatoes do not freeze, John Erickson, owner of the potato field, will pay him $400. If they do freeze, Parker gets no pay—but even then, he reflects optimistically he will have added considerable "hours" to his air record.

Devastating droughts have played havoc with potato crops. To insure sufficient moisture for potato growth swamp lands have been reclaimed.

But in the solution of the moisture problem another was born in the susceptibility of such areas to killing frosts.

So Parker took the job of keeping the air churned up on frosty nights [illegible] hazards of flying scarcely more than 100 feet off the ground in the dark.

Keep Jack Frost away from the potato patch—that's George Parker's job, and the prize is $400, enough to take him back to Northwestern university. He does it by "fanning" the low frosty areas with an airplane.

GALION MAN FINED ON DRIVING CHARGE

A fine of $100 and costs was meted out to B. W. Shaw, 36, of Galion, by Municipal Judge William R. Martin this morning on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Shaw was arrested on South Prospect street where his manner of driving had attracted police attention.

He pleaded guilty to the charge. Judge Martin also revoked his driving rights for a period of six months.

Jumbo Tires Offer Comfort and Safety

LOW PRESSURE BIG ADVANTAGE

Practically Eliminates Blow-Out Hazards; Harruff Store Ready To Demonstrate.

During the summer the Harruff Tire Store of 184 South Main street has installed numerous Jumbo low pressure tires, manufactured by the General Tire Co.

The whole principle of the Jumbo tire so revolutionizes the tire industry that many dealers have waited with exceptional interest the results the ordinary motorist would have after driving several thousand miles under every condition.

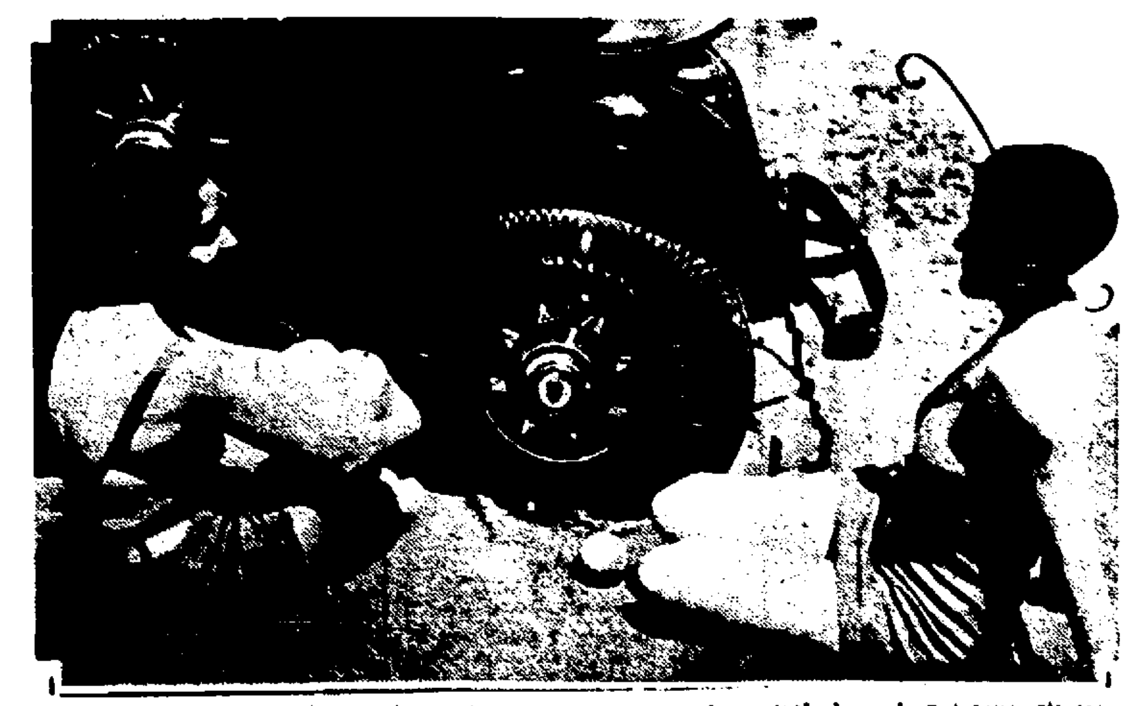

The Harruff Tire Store knows now from actual experience the many advantages which the tire provides.

Only by talking with motorists who have driven on them will you fully appreciate the riding comfort and be convinced of the blow-out proof construction.

In order to let you feel the difference in riding qualities the Harruff store keeps a car equipped with Jumbos. There is no obligation, but you owe it to yourself to ride on Jumbos. Learn more of the tire's actual construction before you take out a new car or replace tires on your present machine.

A Japanese metallurgical engineer has developed a process for plating metals on aluminum.

TEST PROVES TIRE WON'T BLOW OUT

Even large holes cut through the casing, exposing the tube in several places do not cause streamlined Jumbo low pressure tires to blow out. The car shown above has been driven at high speeds for several thousands of miles under all conditions with the front tire slashed in four places. While the tube is exposed, the air pressure is so low the tube does not bulge through the casing. Tire engineers declare this makes the tire almost blow-out proof. Harruff's Tire store at 184 South Main street will be glad to demonstrate these tires.

GOOD PICTURES AID BUSINESS

Adam Bauer Experienced and Competent in Commercial Photography.

To be well skilled in an art is one thing. To know how to use that skill to get the best results is another thing. But when these are combined in the one individual and in addition he is provided with the right kind of equipment, this combination is not so usual as to be unworthy of comment.

In these days we live in a world of pictures. Time was, you know, when the traveling man carried a dozen trunks and displayed a big stock of goods. He used to visit patrons once in six months and his coming was an event. Nowadays that is changed. Instead of the many trunks, he carries a portfolio of photographs of the articles he has for sale, and he visits the merchant about once a month. The better his photographs are, the more sales he is likely to make.

In other words, commercial photography is an important aid to the quick transaction of business. To find a man who can make a difficult picture—knows how—and who has the equipment to do it is a discovery of importance. That is what many have found who have seen the work of Adam Bauer of 126½ South Main street. In addition to being a portrait photographer of distinction, Mr. Bauer has shown himself the master of the details of commercial photography, and has given Marion a fine service in this respect, for Marion products go all over the world and the use of the camera with good judgment is a big help in selling them.

ZACHMAN FURNISHES HIGHEST GRADE MILK

Sanitary Handling Assures Patrons of Clean and Pure Supply.

No human hands touch your milk from the time it is pasteurized in clean dairies automatically sealed in sterilized bottle, and delivered to your door.

That's the basis upon which the Zachman Dairy operates its thriving business here.

This well known concern is one of the most prominent in this community. Its plant is modern and up-to-date in every particular, clean and sanitary throughout. The business is conducted along progressive lines and is a credit to the community.

Courtesy and service themselves would be unavailing unless backed with satisfaction and results. The Zachman Dairy company first produces good milk and then adds to its service by prompt delivery, maintenance of a high standard of quality and immediate attention to every want of the customer.

Shoup and Walsh Suggest Careful Check of Battery

Many people who have had disagreeable experiences with the battery in the car have determined that there will be a new one in its place before cold weather rolls around again. That may of course be necessary. It may also be possible that a good battery man can make a few repairs to the old battery and fix you up fine. When you come to think of it, your battery gets about as little attention as any part of your car, being usually left to shift for itself with a drink of water once in awhile. If it is worth saving, Shoup & Walsh of 127 E. Church st., can do the job. If it should be as you suspect, just naturally worn out, why wait till winter to replace it with a good one?

Shoup & Walsh can sell you as good a battery as is made. There is real economy in buying a good battery. No battery can have more strength and ruggedness than was built into it at the factory, and unnamed orphans of the battery world are likely to be far from desirable.

This concern offers you real road service when needed and will service all kinds of batteries.

MARION PRINTING CO. DOES QUALITY WORK

Shop Equipped To Turn Out Any Kind of Printed Matter.

When one considers the immense amount of printing done and the number of pieces one has to look over in the course of a day's work, he has here the strongest argument for quality in this work. Deluged as the average man is with printed matter, only that which makes a special appeal is likely to receive much attention. This appeal may be made by a card, a handbill, a folder or even a book when it is properly printed, but poor printing is in itself condemnation of the matter presented.

Therefor, the printing establishment which does good work is far more of an aid in business than one that gets out mediocre stuff, and the one that does the best work is in 99 cases out of a hundred the most economical to patronize, regardless of price. Its printing gets more attention per dollar.

To do excellent work a good plant is required, as modern printing nowadays is a technical art requiring many processes. In this connection this city has a right to be proud of the plant of The Marion Printing Co. This company's place at 129-131 North Prospect street is unusual in its adaptability, its perfect equipment and the character of its work. Everything from a card to a big many colored catalog comes from its presses, and it is good work—excellent work that gets results.

CAREFUL GREASING PROTECTS YOUR CAR

Sohio Service Station Will Do First Class Lubrication Job.

Conscientious lubrication and greasing of any car is a most important service to motorists. The care with which this service is done prolongs the life of the car. More cars are worn out by faulty lubrication than by actual mileage. Of course a great part of this is due to neglect of lubrication, but a lot of it comes from the use of poor or unsuitable greases and oils. Choice of the lubricants used is as important, observation shows, as the actual greasing itself. Given the right kind of attention in this respect, and with plenty of oil in the crank case, a car will not only last longer, but it will also perform better while it lasts. That is one of the reasons the Sohio Service Station, at the corner of Kenton avenue and Center streets exercises unusual care in the selection of greases used and why the service in this respect had been so well patronized. This station strives to maintain the highest service in this respect as well as to sell only the highest grade of greases, oil and gasoline, for they feel that anything else is a loss of money on the part of the motorist as well as a breach in the duty they owe the driver who gives them his patronage.

JUVENILE GRANGES TO EXHIBIT AT FAIR

Special Efforts Being Made To Enlarge Farm and Home Displays.

The juvenile granges of Marion county will make their first exhibit at the Marion county fair Sept. 12-15. The exhibit will be patterned after the subordinate grange exhibits and will be shown in the junior fair building. Entries for the exhibit must be made by Saturday.

The home economics department space at the fair has been enlarged this year, those in charge said, and each of the departments in the county schools has been urged to make an exhibit.

A special effort is being made to have all seventh and eighth grades in the county make exhibits of farm and home products.

Students in a child development class at Louisiana Tech have six four-year-olds as their "laboratory equipment."

Net profits of the water department of Shreveport, La., were $8,000 greater the first half of 1933 than the same period in 1932.

IGNITO LUMP POPULAR COAL

Repeat Orders Flow In As Customers Learn of Excellent Fuel.

When the same people demand the same thing over a period of years in the present competitive market, it is certain they are getting something worth while. It is the best kind of a testimonial to the worth of the article. On that basis The Millard Hunt Co. of North Prospect street have something pretty good in the coal they sell. Ignito lump which is their most popular offering, has made a host of friends in this city, which is shown by the many repeat orders. This coal has established its standing on its merits, for there are many varieties of coal sold, and if anybody had any better the customers would not stick to Ignito coal as they do.

Maybe the service the company gives helps in this too. With a large number of trucks at their disposal, their deliveries are made promptly, and their customers are treated with the consideration and courtesy valued patrons should have. But these could not count so much if the coal itself did not give satisfaction.

This company urges its friends to lay in a supply now while lower prices prevail.

Owing to present day conditions, those who put off buying are almost certain to find the price advanced, many dealers believe by at least 25 per cent, certainly enough to make it well worth while to act now. For your convenience The Millard Hunt Co. phone is number 2384.

Gasco To Seek City Softball Title in Series Tilt Today

PRESBYTERIANS TO BE FOES IN CLASH AT NORTH SIDE PARK

Church Team Can Tie Up Race by Halting Utility Combine.

Clamoring for the right to occupy that pedestal which is the goal of all Marion softball teams—the city championship throne—the Gasco club nine will sally forth today at 3 p. m. on the Lincoln park battlefield to cross bats with the fast moving First Presbyterians. The contest will be the sixth in the current Little World series and may be the last.

Two of the four original entries are already eliminated from the struggle. The Gasco club, by conquering the Presbies today, can eliminate the church champs and thus gain the coveted city crown. Should the Presbies, win, however, the series will be forced into another game with the championship to go to the winner.

Gasco Has Advantage

The Gasco club has a distinct advantage as it goes into battle today. It needs only one victory to win the championship. The Presbies, on the other hand, having already suffered a single setback, must beat the Industrial league combination twice before it can claim the championship for the second time in three years. The Presbies grabbed the crown in 1931.

Don Shoemaker and Dale Schwaderer will probably be the opposing twirlers in the conflict, a conflict which promises to set a new attendance record for the series. Schwaderer is certain to hurl for the Gasco nine but there is possibility, considered remote, however, that Manager Francis Bacon will send Freddie Vestal to the mound in an effort to silence the long range Gasco artillery.

Lineups the Same

Should Shoemaker twirl, the Presbie lineup will probably be the same as the one which has played the last two series games for the church team. Manager Ray Anthony of the Gasco is not likely to juggle his lineup. The only possible change would send Lashey back to the outfield in place of Mitchell and this is not likely when one remembers the part Mitchell's big war club played in the victory which the Gasco marked up against the Epworth Seniors last week.

The game will start promptly at 3. Should another game be necessary, it will be played Thursday.

Tigers Get Lawson.

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 5—Roxie Lawson, mainstay of the pitching staff of Toledo of the American Association, was traded to the Detroit Tigers for cash and players. He was to report to his new club today.

CLINGS TO CROWN

Beating Hubert Scott-Paine, British challenger, yesterday in the second heat of the Harmsworth trophy race, Gar Wood, veteran American speedboat pilot, retained the title which he captured 13 years ago. Wood also won the first heat of the race Saturday.

AGOSTA WINNER IN CLASH WITH GREYS

Homer in Seventh With Sacks Clogged Wins for County Team, 7-5.

Ragged fielding and a patched lineup were too much of a handicap for the Marion Merchant-Greys to overcome yesterday and they dropped a 7-5 decision to Agosta. The Greys gained some satisfaction then in the second game of the double header by taking the measure of the old-time Marion Giants, 7-5 in seven innings.

Bill Darnell, twirling for Agosta allowed the Greys six hits and struck out 10 while handing out seven walks. Harry Adams, Jr., struck out nine and walked two.

The Greys downfall came in the seventh inning when the center fielder let Walt Baldauf's long fly get away from him for a home run. The bases were jammed at the time. The Greys got two runs back in the eighth but couldn't overcome the big Agosta lead.

Batteries and score by innings:

Agosta	000 110 500—7	8	2
Greys	010 200 020—5	6	5

Agosta, Darnell, Harruff and Kale; Greys, Harry Adams and R. Jones.

The batteries for the Greys-Old Timer Giants game were: Greys, R. West and Jones, H. Adams; Giants, Harry Adams, Sr., M. Jones, T. Harriss and Stadler, Ross.

OUT FOR SEASON

The Cleveland Indians won a double header ball game yesterday from St. Louis but the team's followers weren't so happy over the twin victory. Joe Vosmik, star left fielder, was put on the shelf by being hit on the hand by a pitched ball. The broken hand will keep him on the bench for the remainder of the season.

EDISON DEFEATED BY CLARK'S MARKET

Heavy Bats of Marion Club Pound Out 18-0 Victory.

Blasting out 22 safe hits off the offerings of two flingers, the Clark's Market baseball team recorded its sixteenth triumph of the season against four defeats Sunday. The Edison Pennant Flours were the victims of the Clarkmen's big uprising being 18-0. It was the second defeat of the year for the Morrow Countians at the hands of the Marion club.

Kerr Conkle twirled the entire game for the winners and never had any difficulty. He set the losers down with three safe hits and never was in danger of being scored on. Conkle struck out 12 batters and handed out three bases on balls. Seven base thefts were turned in by the winners.

M'NAUGHT IS VICTOR OVER FISHBAUGH IN ROUGH MAT BRAWL

Loser Disqualified in Final Fall for Kicking Opponent.

BY KARL R. McELROY

Scotty McNaught, the Canadian big "I" man, backed his words up last night with plenty of action and defeated Les Fishbaugh in the main event of the Labor day wrestling card at the Steam Shovel gym.

McNaught, who had been put down as just a so-so, gave Fishbaugh plenty although he won when the Newark cobbler was disqualified in the final fall of the match.

McNaught was bouncing off the ropes continually to butt his man and the rest of the time he would bounce Fishbaugh off of them. The holds rank among the most spectacular ever seen here.

McNaught Wins First

McNaught won the first fall in 13 minutes with a rolling keylock that battered Fishbaugh plenty. The cobbler opened up with his rough stuff in the second fall, making a big play for McNaught's eyes. He won the fall in 14 minutes with a crab hold.

Fishbaugh grew desperate in the last fall. McNaught tried a series of dives and missed one injuring his side on the ropes. As he attempted to climb back into the ring Fishbaugh knocked him off onto the floor. Despite warnings from the referee, Fishbaugh continued the tactics and was disqualified after the fall had gone six minutes.

Mustapha Pasha, the big shot from Turkey, took good care of Karl Von Lehman of Denver in the semi-final match. The bout went the full 15 minutes with Pasha winning the only fall in 31 minutes with a series of crotch slams.

Pasha Is Victor

Pasha, who reminds one of a bad dream, took all the roughness that Von Lehman was able to give and was right on hand to hand plenty of it back.

The police had to end the fighting after the only fall was scored. Von Lehman, who figured that he got a dirty deal out of the bout, vented his wrath on Referee Tom Temple. Temple was knocked out for the count and Pasha started giving Von Lehman a lacing. Temple revived in a short time and started to give Von Lehman a punching. Then the police decided to halt things.

In an exciting preliminary, Olin Olsen and Joe Edwards wrestled 20 minutes to a draw.

Cheadle Issues Call for More Harding Gridders

New Mentor Putting Boys Through Paces Twice a Day in Preparation for Opener Sept. 23.

After a two-day inspection of the group of approximately 50 youths who aspire to positions on the 1933 Harding High school grid combination, Gerald Cheadle, Harding's new football mentor has issued a call for more candidates. Cheadle has asked that all boys report as quickly as possible for practice. Two sessions daily are in order for the rest of this week, with the usual afternoon workout slated after school opens Sept. 11. The drills this week will start promptly at 9 a. m. and 1:30 p. m.

Has Big Task

A glance at the array of material working out daily on the Silk Mill practice field indicates that Cheadle has a large size task cut out for him in this, his first season at the helm of the Harding football machine. Only three letter men are back in harness, two linemen and one back. Canterbury and Mason, a pair of guards, and Maury Whitcum, a backfield man, are the three boys who earned letters last fall. There are several others on the squad who saw considerable service and several husky but inexperienced lads who may provide the hoped for strength.

Cheadle has wasted no time in getting down to work in an effort to accomplish the most possible in the short time before the opening game with Mt. Vernon here on Sept. 23. He has made it decidedly clear that he is picking his players on the basis of what they show in practice and not on any past accomplishments. Admitting that he knows very little of the boys' past records Cheadle declares he is not particularly interested, preferring to gain his information first hand.

To Fight for Posts

All of which makes it reasonably sure there will be some hectic practice sessions at the Silk Mill field as the boys fight it out for the right to help the Presidents regain the position of prestige in the football world which they held when boys like McAninch and Mendenhall were roaming the North Central Ohio league grids.

Three Games Played in County Diamond Tourney

Despite threatening weather which held the crowd to a small figure, three games went by the boards Sunday at Lincoln park in the Marion county softball tournament. Four more games are on tap for next Sunday. Eight teams are entered in the tournament.

The Harruff Tire store team collided with Pleasant township in the opening game, the Tires romping off with a 6-3 decision. Three home runs were collected by Bob Merchant, P. Seiter and D. Baumgartner.

In the second game the Marion Paint company jumped on Clarence Primmer for 14 hits and romped off with a 6-0 victory over the First Ward A. C. Myron Gibson led the assault of Primmer with a homer, triple and single in four times up. Roscoe Rank twirled for the winners and allowed only one hit, a single in the second inning by H. Clark.

In the third game the Short Line Grocers dropped a 4-2 game to Walters & Disbennett. Woody Walters pitched for the winners and allowed [illegible] hits keeping them well spaced.

HOLE-IN-ONE BUT HE'S NOT BOASTING

By The Associated Press

SHERBROOKE, Que., Sept. 5—Charles Steele had a hole-in-one to his credit today but it's not something he likely will boast about.

Driving off the 13th tee, Steele got a 30-degree hook on the ball which rolled onto the 14th green and into the cup. The distance was 225 yards.

PITTSBURGH READY FOR CRUCIAL SERIES WITH PACE SETTERS

Bucs Hope To Halt Giants' Dash Toward National Pennant.

By The Associated Press

The National league drama moved into Forbes field at Pittsburgh today as Bill Terry's Giants swung west for the last time this year with at least two of the first division trailers hanging doggedly to what little chance remains of catching the leaders.

Seven and a half games back in second place, riding a winning streak that swept to nine victories in the last ten games, George Gibson's Buccaneers can make the grade by riddling the Giants and capitalizing on any damage that may be done to the Terrymen later by Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis.

Rains Halts Play

Rains that swept the east gave the Giants a day of rest yesterday, wiping out a double-header with the Phillies that would have added further strain to a pitching staff already wearied by a multitude of doubleheaders. One of yesterday's two games is lost entirely from the schedule, as there is no possible open date on which the Giants can work in another match with the Phillies.

The Pirates made ready for the "crucial" conflict by edging in one game with Cincinnati before the rain poured down. Hal Smith turned in another of the masterful pitching performances the Pirates have been getting lately, winning 1 to 0, over Si Johnson as Pie Traynor's single, a sacrifice, and a safe belt by the rejuvenated Tommy Thevenow scored the lone marker in the ninth.

Cubs Capture Two

The Cubs disposed of St. Louis' twin aces, Dizzy Dean and Tex Carleton, to win both halves of a double header, 6 to 4, and 5 to 2, and edge the idle Braves from third place by a half game.

The only activities in the American league that escaped the holiday downpour were double headers in Detroit and Cleveland. The Tigers took two from the White Sox 8 to 0, and 5 to 4, while Walter Johnson's courageous Indians twice beat the St. Louis Browns, 3 to 2, and 2 to 0, behind steady pitching by Oral Hildebrand and Clint Brown.

Marion District Horses Race Well at State Fair

Marion and adjoining counties were well represented in harness race events at the state fair last week. Horses from this vicinity also were active in other harness events last week.

Milo L. Myers of Marysville, former prosecuting attorney of Union county, who breeds, trains and races his own horses, had three at the fair, including a roan trotter, Agile (2:09). In a field of 16 starters in the 2:20 trot, Agile finished 5-6-4. In the same event, Hackfast, owned and driven by Walter T. Harrison, who formerly trained horses at Marion, finished 10-4-7. Gold Etawah, owned and driven by Henry Adams of Richwood, finished 9-7-10; G. E. S., owned by G. E. Scheiffer of Bucyrus, finished 8-12-8.

Four colts of Annie Moore, a favorite among old time race fans, owned by L. L. Aller, were in various events at the state fair. Harry Pifer handled the reins of Neb Moore and Lou Chan, while Plaxico was the pilot of Annie La Rue. Dr. W. N. McMillen drove Baron Fremore.

Just the Guy, owned by H. J. Klink of Bucyrus, driven by McMillan, finished 3-2-5 in the 2:15 trot at Columbus.

Voïans, the winner of the Governor's cup for three-year-old trotters, was driven by Harry Tallman of Carthage, O. Mr. Tallman is a former resident of Marion. He trained horses here and at Richwood. His father, Alf Tallman, trained horses at the Marion fair grounds before the advent of the present century. Harry Tallman is the only driver to twice win the Governor's cup. In 1931 he won the event with McGregor.

Prince Mack owned by William McKenzie of Delaware finished 4-3 in the 2:12 pace at Toledo, and was a contender in the free from all pace at the State fair.

At Wapakoneta Wednesday Patchen Girl, owned and driven by John Fleimueth, finished 2-1-1 in the 2:24 pace, the three miles being in 2:12½, 2:12¼ and 2:14¼. It was the second start made by his four-year-old full sister to Patchen Boy.

Runts Beat Agosta.

Longshore set Agosta down with two hits Sunday as Hogan's Runts captured a 5-3 victory on the out-of-town diamond.

Batteries and score by innings:

Runts	000 300 20*—5	8	1

CALEDONIA INDIANS TAKE THREE GAMES

Martel Bows Once, Bucyrus Questions Twice to Redskin Club.

The Caledonia Indians' baseball team added three triumphs to the seasons' string over the two-day week-end. The Redskins grabbed a 4-2 game from Martel Sunday behind the classy twirling of Emmett Curtiss then came back yesterday to hand the strong Bucyrus Questions their third and fourth defeats of the season by scores of 4-2 and 8-1. Skahill, a Galion twirler, pitched the first victory over the Questions, allowing nine hits but keeping them well spaced. Huffman twirled the second start and allowed only three hits, setting the Bucyrus nine down, 8-1.

Kipke Plans Spectacular Grid Style at Michigan

By The Associated Press

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Sept. 5—Harry Kipke plans to introduce "something new" this coming football season in the drive to give Michigan its fourth successive Western conference championship.

Since the Wolverines have lost only one game in three season's the head coach feels the public cannot be satisfied with mere victory and that the thrills of the wide open type of play must be furnished. In spring practice Kipke stressed sweeps outside tackle and spectacular forward-lateral passes.

Also Kipke plans to use his new "rump wheel" or "guard wheel" formation which is designed to give the guards an opportunity to attract the attention of spectators. Michigan guards come back out of the line as soon as the ball is snapped to form interference on 75 per cent of all plays. The "rump wheel" says Kipke, will help them get out of the line sooner.

Different Lineup

On this formation the guards, one or both, will line up facing their own backfield, or will do an about face a second before the ball is put in play. Clever guards who will not "telegraph" their intentions to opponents are needed for the "rump wheel." Kipke has a pair of 190-pound veterans, Johnny Kowalik and Carl Savage.

Despite the loss of Harry Newman and Ivy Williamson, the forward passing combination which accounted for several wins last season, the aerial game is expected to produce results again this fall. Newman's successor remains to be chosen, but the Michigan squad has nearly a dozen candidates who can throw passes.

Most of the veteran backs can throw or receive passes. John Regeczi, Herman Everhardus, Capt. Stan Fay, Estil Tessmer, Louis Westover, Jack Heston, Russ Oliver, Antone Dauksza and Dick James are backfield candidates who can pass.

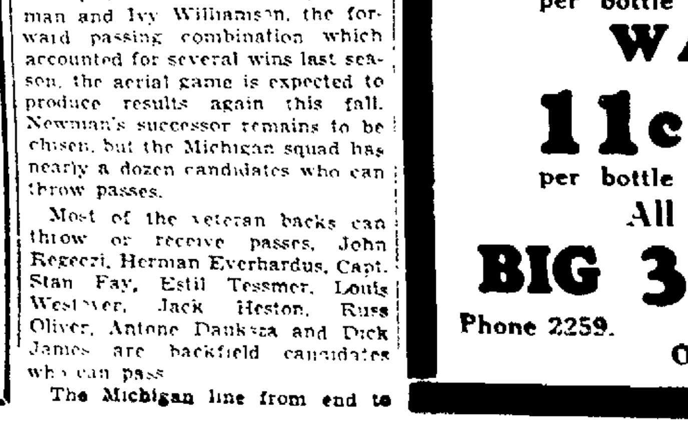

The Michigan line from end to end is ready to pick-up where it left off last fall. The veteran regulars are Ted Petoskey and Willis Ward, ends, Francis Wistert and Tom Austin, tackles, Kowalik and Savage, guards, and Charles Bernard, center. There is an abundance of highly talented reserve material for every position except possibly the guards.

Bruins Buy Bill Lee.

Chicago, Sept. 5—The Chicago Cubs today announced the purchase of Bill Lee, right handed pitcher, from the Columbus club of the American association. William Veeck, president of the Cubs, said Lee would report in the spring. He said the purchase involved cash and one or more players, the players to be named later.

Three-Days' Accumulation Results in Slide Downward at Chicago.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept 5—Disturbed by three days' accumulation of hedging sales from rural holders both in Canada and this country, wheat values slid down about 2¼ cents today.

Canadian exporters took advantage of price setbacks, and disposed of 3,500,000 bushels of wheat abroad. An increase of 2,672,000 bushels in the United States wheat visible supply total was a late bearish factor

Wheat closed 1⅝-2 cents under Friday's finish, corn ⅝@1⅝ down, oats ⅝@⅞ off, and provisions varying from 15 cents decline to a rise of 10 cents.

STEER CLUB VOTES TO RETAIN STOCK

The Marion County Steer club, composed of young people who are raising steers under the supervision of vocational agriculture instructors, decided in a meeting Saturday night at the office of Supt. D. T. Mills, not to sell the steers at the Marion county fair. The members, after discussion, decided to feed the steers for sale later in the year. Levi Lukens, vocational instructor at Waldo, and leader of the club, presided.

LAST TIMES TONITE—"THE MAYOR OF HELL"

'Is Marion A Hick Town?'

To the Amusement Lovers of Marion and Environs.

I assure you that the mere implication of the query filled me with resentment. It did not require long for me to make an unequivocal reply. MARION is NOT a Hick Town. The question came in a letter from A. B. Marcus, who will bring the greater MARCUS SHOW to the Palace commencing Friday. He wrote:

We have two different and distinct versions of both LA VIE PAREE and A NIGHT AT THE FOLIES BERGERE, the original which we have presented in unexpurgated form in such cities as New York, Chicago, New Orleans, San Francisco, Cleveland and other liberal minded cities, and the more or less innocuous editions designed to satisfy such rather puritanical communities as Cincinnati, Boston, Philadelphia and Los Angeles. Is Marion a hick town and should we offer the ORIGINAL or the ADOLESCENT versions during our forthcoming engagement?

This Is My Reply:

YOU WOEFULLY MISINFORMED STOP MARION HAS REPUTATION BEING AMONG MOST SOPHISTICATED CITIES IN COUNTRY STOP WE WANT THE ADULT AND PARISIAN VERSION BOTH LA VIE PAREE AND NIGHT FOLIES BERGERE STOP REGARDS

This correspondence is self-explanatory. Marion will be accorded the full and unabridged edition of both LA VIE PAREE and A NIGHT AT THE FOLIES BERGERE at the Palace during the engagement which opens Friday.

SALES FORCE WHEAT LOWER

Three-Days' Accumulation Results in Slide Downward at Chicago.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 5—Disturbed by three days' accumulation of hedging sales from rural holders both in Canada and this country, wheat values slid down about 2⅛ cents today.

Canadian exporters took advantage of price setbacks, and disposed of 3,500,000 bushels of wheat abroad. An increase of 2,672,000 bushels in the United States wheat visible supply total was a late bearish factor.

Wheat closed 1⅝@2 cents under Friday's finish, corn ⅝@1⅝ down, oats ⅝@⅞ off, and provisions varying from 15 cents decline to a rise of 10 cents.

'Is Marion A Hick Town?'
To the Amusement Lovers of Marion and Environs.

I assure you that the mere implication of the query filled me with resentment. It did not require long for me to make an unequivocal reply, MARION is NOT a Hick Town. The question came in a letter from A. B. Marcus, who will bring the greater MARCUS SHOW to the Palace commencing Friday. He wrote:

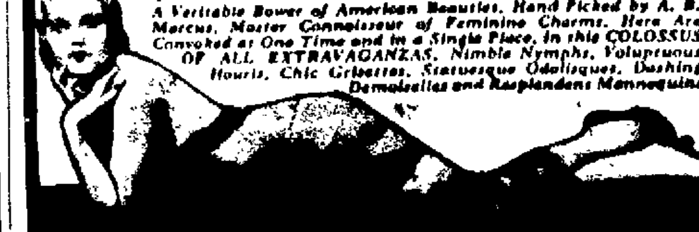

We have two different and distinct versions of both LA VIE PAREE and A NIGHT AT THE FOLIES BERGERE, the original which we have presented in unexpurgated form in such cities as New York, Chicago, New Orleans, San Francisco, Cleveland and other liberal minded cities, and the more or less innocuous editions designed to satisfy such rather puritanical communities as Cincinnati, Boston, Philadelphia and Los Angeles. Is Marion a hick town and should we offer the ORIGINAL or the ADOLESCENT versions during our forthcoming engagement?

This Is My Reply:
YOU WOEFULLY MISINFORMED STOP MARION HAS REPUTATION BEING AMONG MOST SOPHISTICATED CITIES IN COUNTRY STOP WE WANT THE ADULT AND PARISIAN VERSION BOTH LA VIE PAREE AND NIGHT FOLIES BERGERE STOP REGARDS

This correspondence is self-explanatory. Marion will be accorded the full and unabridged edition of both LA VIE PAREE and A NIGHT AT THE FOLIES BERGERE at the Palace during the engagement which opens Friday.

Rev. J. O. Dodd Preaches at Last Union Service

"Our age is an age of consumers The NRA program would not have been possible if only industrialists and employers signed it Rev James O Dodd of Central Christian church told a capacity congregation Sunday night at the Labor day services at the First Reformed church. Rev. Dodd spoke on "The Common Man The service closed the summer series of union meetings

"There is a school of thought today which says a common man does nothing for the progress of civilization but to hold it back" the speaker said in opening his sermon "If this is true, it scuttles democracy, it scuttles Christianity

"In the light of this doctrine, I refer you to the teaching of Paul in a similar circumstance when he said to the Corinthians who were disputing about the importance of various individuals, 'Desire earnestly the best things'

"How can we as common people not being creative geniuses, become creative?" Rev. Dodd asked, "We do this by desiring earnestly the best things.

"Creative genius is not produced in a vacuum" he went on "Thomas Edison would not have been Thomas Edison in Zululand. It was the need that called forth the incandescent lamp. If we prove to the producer by our desire that we want the best things, we shall receive them"

Continuing the thought of "desiring earnestly." Rev. Dodd spoke as follows: "If the common man would desire earnestly the best things he would [illegible] affect the religious world [illegible] modern preachers are on the [illegible] of religion. Jesus was not a producer in the sense of writing books or building churches but He was a producer in the sense that He drew the best out of men by desiring the best things from them

"We today could have the best movies, news politics social organization and all other best things if we desired them earnestly.

Dr Robert W Hucke pastor of the First Reformed church presided for the service A quartet of members of the church furnished music.

NRA ADMINISTRATORS AWAIT FORD ACTION

industry began its first official work today under the blue eagle, NRA leaders evidenced every intention—for the present, at least—of "letting nature take its course" with Ford—the industrial campaign's first major holdout

What the future might bring if the Detroit manufacturer continues indefinitely to operate without the blue eagle was uncertain, but the administration was represented as determined that no important employer should reject the recovery program. The final decision was President Roosevelt's with his powers to license manufacturers and the President was returning to his office today.

To help boost consumption, Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, promised in Chicago yesterday to launch around Sept 20, a vigorous campaign to promote buying He warned that NRA's program must lift the cost of doing business and therefore the cost of goods, adding that "the slightest move toward inflation might send prices skyrocketing overnight"

ASSESSED FINE ON CONDUCT CHARGE

Sam Arcuri, 31, of 395 Quarry street, was fined $25 and costs in municipal court this morning on a charge of disorderly conduct and disturbing the peace. He was arrested Sunday night when police raided his home in search of liquor.

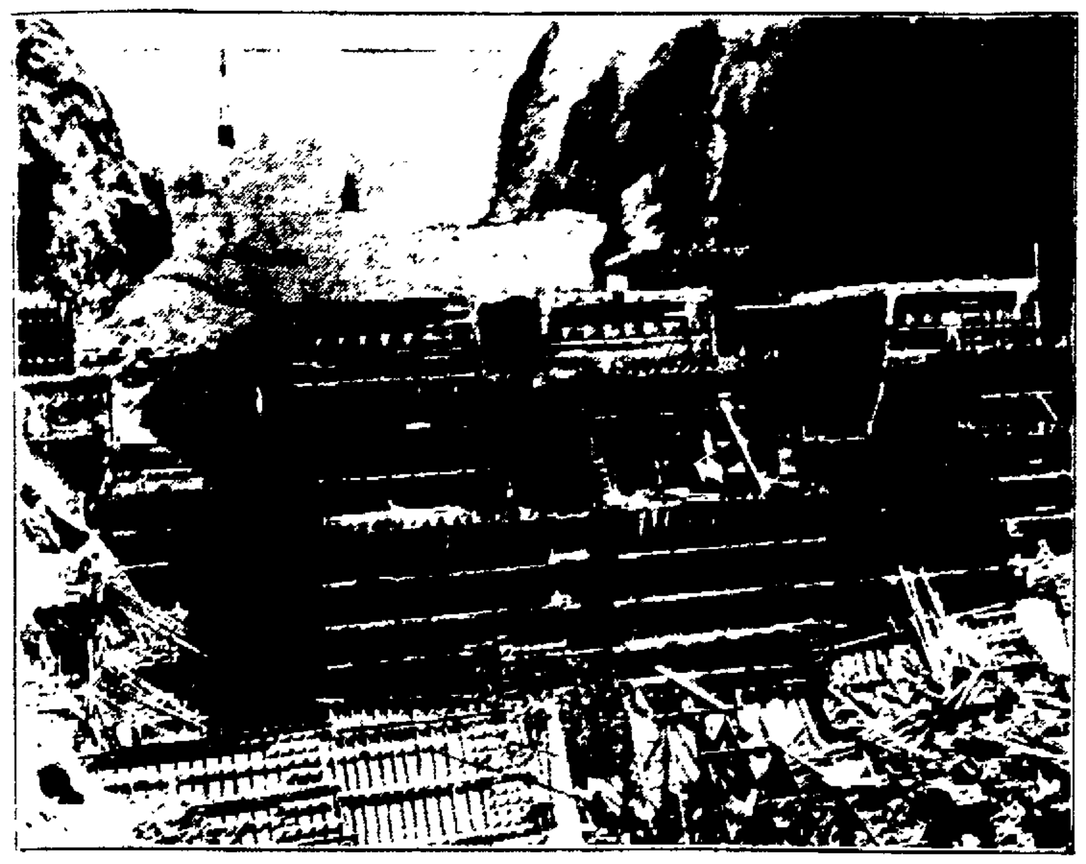

Police reported that nearly four gallons of white "corn" were found near the railroad tracks in the vicinity of Arcuri's home. Arcuri, however, denied possession of the liquor.

He did, however, plead guilty to the conduct and disturbance charge. Police said considerable annoyance to neighbors has been caused by disturbances at the Arcuri residence.

The North Carolina state prison used only 61 per cent of its appropriation during the last fiscal year.

could not give Germany greater honor than the last war"

That depends on the definition of "honor" There is no question that the Germans fought with extraordinary courage against world-wide odds.

One thing is certain another war could hardly be for Germany a more horrible calamity than the last war Intelligent Germans, anxious to see their nation go ahead and recover, will regret it if they allow Hitler to draw them into a war for his own glory.
